Well sir, If that's what you really think about me and my few posts on this subject, I guess I'll just have to go away hurt and confused....

Oh.. This is so unfair! I give up! Uncle!

But the fact that K1MAN now owes the FCC $21K for breaking the rules of part 97 won't go away anytime soon. Altough it does seem that his license will.

Yet, broadcasting is part of the NAL under discussion here.

Part 97 makes it very clear what broadcasting is if you will read it for what it says and not try to parse it to confuse and obfuscate the meaning.

True, not all broadcasting (one way transmissions) are disallowed, some are specificially allowed. However, looking at the NAL and now the affirmation of said NAL, it's clear that somebody has a lot of good evidende that what was transmitted constituted broadcasting.

If you wish to "broadcast" outside of what is allowed in part 97, you need to operate under some other part of the FCC's regulations if you insist on going the RF route.

Perhaps a CB or Part 15 would suit you!

fully attracted to female and a wider variety of gal than guys althogugh I don't like "boyish" gals very well. I am more likely to be attracted to any random gal than any random guy but I enjoy both (esp at the same time) and I don't esp try to conceal it whcih has what has

Todd, dude, let's forget for the moment that you've got all these trollers harassing you and concentrate on your feelings toward communications lawyers. I certainly hope you're not including me among those you characterize uncharitably. I agree that it takes a lot of study to become a communications lawyer. I'm just a half-assed one. I've studied communications law quite a bit, but I'm by no means a real hotshot. I have met some good communications lawyers, though. For example, there's George L. Lyon, Jr. of the Lukas, Nace firm in Washington, D.C. Also, there's Philip Kane, K2ASP, the former Engineer In Charge of the S. F. region of the FCC, who went to law school after he retired from the Commission and is now practicing communications law in Beaverton, Oregon. They both seem pretty smart to me, and I'll bet they could handle an amateur case very well.

Serious question:

Just how much power is the maximum permitted level of 250 uV/m at 3 meters for non-licensed devices?

(FM broadcast band?) See this NAL for reference:

You're such a spineless liar. I don't even live near Dalton moron. That means that I am not Lloyd. I doubt if Tunder wanted to get out of the truck with your reputation as an reprobate fudgepacker. I've never been to Dalton and considering that it is several hundred miles away I doubt I would go anyway considering that it is a pretty small hamfest compared to Dayton or Shelby. I doubt you really had any woman in the house at the time. Probably your shemale butt buddy you just picked up at the gay bar.

Oh and by the way Pussman, are you going to show at Dayton or are you going to hide behind your cum soaked keyboard hiding like the mommas boy you really are. We already know the answer to that, SPINELESS

Since you talk about it so much, I suspect that you are homosexual. We never hear you talk of women except those shemales you have an affinity for. But you are of the effeminate version.

You sure aren't big enough to give anyone an attitude adjustment puss face. Much less drag your ass off to Dayton. You'll still be hiding behind your keyboard at Glendale because you know if you was to actually get in someones face it wouldnt be pretty. I suspect even you have more enemies as Lloyd. I'm not Lloyd but you're convinced I am.

That's ok though because it would be so funny to see someone giving you back what you asked for. Of course, you're the type of guy to hide behind a couple others instead of fighting your own battles. Try again mommas boy.

HE LIKES TO WEAR HIS FISHNET HOSE, UNDER EVERYONE'S NOSE

A VIBRATOR IN HIS SHOE

(REPEAT CHORUS)

You are comparing essentially apples and oranges. 250 UV/m is a power density measurement that is different from actual power supplied to the antenna. What the FCC is specifying is a field power density at a specific distance from the antenna. This is often specified in commercial services like that of FM broadcst. There is no actual power out specification like in CB or Land Mobile, but a power density at a distance. So depending on the efficiency and gain of the antenna system, will determine how much actual power is needed by the transmitter to yield 250uV/m at 3 meters.

There are formulae to calculate the power density from know variables such as transmitter power, cable losses, antenna gain, antenna hiegth, frequency of operation and distance from the antenna. Once you know the variables it is simple plug and chug to get the answers.

It was twenty years ago today,
Roger Wiseman forced the boys to be gay
He's been going in and outa their rears
And he's made them into ravin' queers.
So watch out or I'll force on you
The act we've hated all these years,
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band.

We're Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band,
Disciples of the Bucktoothed Choad,
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band,
Sit back and watch us shoot a load.
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound, Roger Wiseman's Greyhound,
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band.
It's wonderful to be here,
But Wiseman's full of crap,
The dirty goddamn pederast:
That fucker gave us syphilis,
That fucker gave us clap.

I don't really want to stop the show,
But I thought you had all better know,
That Wiseman's going to play a song,
On a stickpin that he stuck through his schlong.
So let me introduce to you
The one and only Bucktoothed Choad
And Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band.

Imagine Roger Wiseman
Itï¿½s not so hard to do
Kneeling in the boysï¿½ room
Slurping down some spoo
Imagine all the Cub Scouts
That he does this to!

Imagine Marshall County
That breeding ground for hicks
When they hear how Roger Gets his seedy kicks
Imagining old Wiseman
Gumming pre-teen dicks!

Imagine West Vagina Contagious black lung
No more coal to shovel
So Roger gets by with his tongue
Imagine him paying rent
With free shots at his bung!

We all know Wiseman is a reamer
But heï¿½s useful just the same
Where else would the Nose find a patsy Half as sad or half as lame?

The formulae and theory works whether you are using 1 milliwatt or 1

Much less than that--do the math:

250 uV/m is a power density of 1.66 x 10^-10 w/m. (P= E^2/R and R for free space is 376.7 ohms).

A sphere with a radius of 3 meters has a surface area of 113.1 meters.
Multiplying this by the power density gives .019 microwatts, which if applied to an isotropic antenna (if such an animal existed) would give the specified level. Since a dipole has a gain of 2.1 db (1.64) compared to an isotropic reference, an input power of .011 microwatts to a dipole would result in the same field strength.

This should have been 1.66 X 10^01 w/m^2.

Which should have been 113.1 square meters.

When one killfiles Mark and Woger, this newsgroup goes almost silent.

What we have here is a pair of social misfits chasing their tails around and around and around.

Woger sees Lloyd everywhere and Markie sees Steve everywhere and between attacking one another, neither of these clowns know what time of day it is.

Yes you do. You see Robeson everywhere and accuse him of making posts he does not make. You wear this newsgroup to a frazzle with your false accusations about Steve and you are becoming quite boring. You are just like Wiseman. No brains, no social skills. You are two peas in the same pod.
Of course you and Wiseman do not get along, but that is because the two of you are so alike. If it were not for the fact that Wiseman is adopted and doesn't know who his daddy is, you two could be twins.

Believe me, nobody takes you "serious". Nor did I "attck" you. I made observations and commented upon them based entirely on what I've witnessed these last few months.
You have, like Wiseman, a rather unhealthy fixation that seems to be your only reason for posting. Do you not have other things to occupy your mind and time? Steve may post once or twice a week and he keeps his posts short and he ALWAYS posts over his name and callsign. You, on the other hand, post what? A couple hundred times a week? And as always, you accuse Steve of making posts he had nothing to do with. It is no wonder Wiseman sees through your stupidity and makes fun of you.

You've run this group to the ground and between you and Wiseman you have driven most of the other posters away.
I do not often agree with Wiseman, but in your case I will make an exception. Wiseman is right. You are a simpleton who spams this and other newsgroups. You have ruined this group with your inane and boringly repeated comments.

It is YOU who needs help.

The below is such a joke that I will not take the time to respond in kind.
Mark is making such a great display of advertising his stupidity that further comments are not necessary.
For instance, what the heck is "patanints "?
Mark still whines that Robeson is "repsosble " for many of the posts hereabout. Mark. When will you get it through your thick concrete skull that Steve is not lurking, does not coax us to make posts and does not post over sock puppet names? How many times does this have to be spelled out to you before you get the message? Must you be struck on your thick skull with a sledgehammer to get a point across?
You put a whole new meaning into the definiton of stupid.

You say, "I don't spamm the gruop at all". Yes, you do. Problem is that you lack the intellect to know what Spam is. Heck, you cannot even spell it properly.
Then, like the stalker you are, you say, "Steve set the pattern and steve is repsosble for the results."
No, that is another of your stupid fantasies. Here again you see Steve everywhere you go. YOU set the pattern and you continue to spam and the results are your own doing. Steve has been mostly silent this week but you continue to hallucinate and blame any and all unexplained posts on him.
Wiseman has your ticket, bud. He plays you like a three dollar Saturday Night fiddle in a two dollar whorehouse.
I had to laugh when you say, "that you another of stevs (or Dave hiles)sock puppets". How many times must I thump you on your concrete forehead and remind you that Steve AND Dave post over their real names and callsigns?
What part of this are you not getting? Are you hard of hearing?
Hey, I do not "suport for the Steve and Wismen defacto conspriacy to attack me" In fact, I cannot make heads or tails of what is you just said.
I think you meant to say that I support Wiseman and Steve when they take you to task for your stupidity. Come to think of it, perhaps I do.
But what the heck, Markie. You bring these caustic comments upon yourself and you have nobody to blame save yourself.

You really are a class act, Mark. Low class.

How dumb can one be? Your every other post seems to comment that Steve is either making posts or is behind posts made.

Then you say, "threatening me agin oh hum" There was no threat. It was a simple comment that in order to get through to your stupid head...well, Dummy, it was a figure of speech.
You are not very bright, are you???

Then you say, "Wismen is making them but only becuase stev gave him the idea Wismen is too stupid to act with out someon to feed him"

See? There you go again, blaming Steve. How lame is that? Wiseman and Steve do not know one another and for you to posit that Wiseman is somehow putting Steve up to the sockpuppet comments is way beyond reason. You, in your sheer stupidity, are grasping at straws.

Thanks for the laugh when you said, "you are most likely one fo their sock puppts If i had to be pinned down i'd say dave Heil "

I hate to break the news to you, but I am not in any way affiliated with Dave Heil, never met the man. I am likewise not affiliated with Steve Robeson. I've never met him, either. I also need to go on record as stating that I have never met Wiseman, do not know him, and even if the opportunity presented itself I would be hard pressed to avoid the temptation to hit him on his filthy mouth.
I would not worry about meeting you, Mark. Talking to you would not be much different that talking to Barney Rubble. You and cartoon Barney have similar intellects, tho Barney beats you out by a few IQ points.

He's got his shemale tapes, he's got a few gay porn DVDs
He's got the Daleks, he never needs real pussy!
The time is right, I'd better use the pics on the PC
So beat it, choke your dick like it owes you money!

LLoyd made it through 12th grade
Somehow he made it through Never had a forum for his views
Until he found radio newsgroups

Lloyd is the the freak of the week
Everybody avoids that fatassed geek
But everyday's a brand new day Yeah, it makes him feel Shiny and new

Lloyd's a virgin
Hasn't had pussy for the very first time
Lloyd's a virgin
Never tires of jacking off all the time

"I'm gonna post about you, boy
My Bible's on my side"
Lloyd's been bashed around Because his stupidity is hard to hide

He's bald, obese and round
A weeble-wobble that won't fall down
Oh, when he went to the retreat
Yeah, he stepped on his own feet
What a fucking fool

Lloyd's a virgin <GAY!>
Hasn't had pussy for the very first time
Lloyd's a virgin
Never tires of jacking off all the time

Oooh, oooh, oooh

He's bald, obese and round
He'll just follow you around Because you make him feel

Yeah, you make him feel
He's got something to do

Lloyd's a virgin
Hasn't had pussy for the very first time
Lloyd's a virgin
Never tires of jacking off all the time

Lloyd's a virgin, ooh, ooh
He'd rather slurp nutsack goo
Lloyd's a virgin
What's a loser like him to do

Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh
Ooh, Lllllloyd

Dancing With Myself, written about LARDASS Lloyd Davies
by Billy Idol
This song was inspired by an obese, pathetic bloody wanker named Lloyd Davies!
This loser couldn't get laid in a bloody whorehouse with a no-limit Visa card.
Billy Idol

Dancing With Myself
(Billy Idol, 1984/ guess who, 2004)

On the floor of christian dances I show
Or the Wagon Wheel gay Bar I a-go, go
With natural selection
I always get rejection
I'm dancing with myself

When there's no-one else in sight
In the crowded lonely LARDASS Lloyd night
Well I wait so long
For a love connection
And I'm dancing with myself

Oh dancing with myself
Oh dancing with myself
Well it's the Lord I choose
And I never have screwed
I'll be dancing with myself

If I looked all over the world
And there's every type of girl
But you pick the good looking guys
And always pass me by Leave me dancing with myself

So I drink another drink
'Cause it'll give me time to think
If I didn't have this fat gut

I'd actually get a fuck
But I'll be dancing with myself

Oh dancing with myself
Oh dancing with myself
Well I'm addicted to food
And I have 80 pounds to lose
I'll be dancing with myself

If I looked all over the world
And there's every type of girl
But you pick other guys
And always pass me by Leave me dancing with myself

So I drink another drink
'Cause it'll give me time to think
If I had the chance
I'd get some romance
But I'll be dancing with myself

Oh dancing with myself
Oh dancing with myself
If I had the chance
I'd ask to get into your pants
If I had the chance
I'd have some romance
If I had the chance
I'd get hair implants

[Fade chorus]

Dancing with myself
Dancing with myself
Dancing with myself
Dancing with myself

Well If I looked all over the world,
And I've never had a girl
Because I study the guys
Not the girls' thighs
Leave me dancing with myself

So I drink another drink
'Cause it'll give me time to think
If I had just the chance
I'd get into your pants
But I'll be dancing with myself

Oh dancing with myself
Oh dancing with myself
If I just had the chance
I'd get into your pants

If I had the chance
I'd have some romance
If I had the chance
I'd get hair implants

Gee, Woger. It sounds as though someone took a page right out of the book written by your very own butt-buddy, Jimmy "Dimwit" O'Brien, W4AMP. It is not so much fun when it happens to you, is it? But then, perhaps if you weren't such an unsavory bunghole things such as that wouldn't happen to you.

Wrong guess, Morkie. You are hiding yourself, according to the FCC's

The King of Knob Jobs in Alabama never learns

And there came upon the land a long period of peace, for the the king of Knob Jobs in Alabama and the imaginary daleks and silurians had taken flight from their enemies for they knew that the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama was the dumbest asshole in all of the known world. They had taken the worst ass whipping in the history of mankind and waddled off with his belly hanging between his short stubby legs.

And, the time of fighting and cross words posted on internet forums was almost forgotten. Because, the daleks were returned to Lloyd's empty skull, where they had little to do but drill and polish his little knob. Then the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama grew bored and restless, for he was a species who thrived on attention and making trouble. But his enemies were kept under control by common sense and they tired of whipping a mentally defecient retard too many times.

And the two toothed hillbillies of Alabama thrived, for there was work for all, and food was plentiful and the beer and ale flowed freely when the men returned home in the evening after a day of work. and some of the men would build fires in the bbq's and they would prepare meat and set the meat to the grills, and when the meat was done they would take the meat and prepare a banquet. and sometimes the men would argue over the merits of the sauces offered for the meats, and some would say that a vinegar based sauce was the best and some would say that an oil based sauce was the best and some would anger both sides by favoring a mustard based rub on the meat. and the men would occasionally come to blows, and when this happened the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama would suckk all of them off. The fat assed heiffers would run outside and break up the fights and reason with the men. The heiffers sometimes dreamed that they were the property of the king of Knob Jobs in Alabama. And they would laugh their fat asses off at his attempts to get a hard on and his distended belly which covered his 2" pee pee up.

And so it came to pass that early in the nascar season there was a particular race. and in this race Jeff Gordon and Matt Kenseth had an incident and jeff gordon where they were caught sucking each other off in the garage area. Gordon lost his usual composure and walked over to Matt and attempted to pull his pants down to cornhole him like he had with the other gay Nascar drivers. Kenseth and pushed him and wanted to beat his ass down but was stopped before they could really get to scrapping. As the rest of the Nascar drivers were gay and sided with the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama. And within a short time the scandalous posts about the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama began to again

And then Lloyd ordered the imaginary silurians and the daleks to exterminate his filthy hud hovel to cleanse it of the rats and roaches so he could once again drink bud light beer and flood the internet with filth and lies about various people.

Woger stated:

"And Roger wasn't even home when the Heils showed up. That wasn't Roger inside when they showed up, dumbass. Unlike you, he had a woman friend who was there while he had gone to the store."

Now THIS one has to be a new classic, Curtains Boy. You prove once again that you are an inveterate liar and are so adept at same that you are even beginning to believe your own lies. Just when I thought you couldn't top yourself, you open your yap and prove me wrong.

They had taken the worst ass whipping in the history of mankind and waddled off with his belly hanging between his short stubby legs.

And, the time of fighting and cross words posted on internet forums was almost forgotten. Because, the daleks were returned to Lloyd's empty skull, where they had little to do but drill and polish his little knob. Then the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama grew bored and restless, for he was a species who thrived on attention and making trouble. But his enemies were kept under control by common sense and they tired of whipping a mentally defecient retard too many times.

And the two toothed hillbillies of Alabama thrived, for there was work for all, and food was plentiful and the beer and ale flowed freely when the men returned home in the evening after a day of work. and some of the men would build fires in the bbq's and they would prepare meat and set the meat to the grills, and when the meat was done they would take the meat and prepare a banquet. and sometimes the men would argue over the merits of the sauces offered for the meats, and some would say that a vinegar based sauce was the best and some would say that an oil based sauce was the best and some would anger both sides by favoring a mustard based rub on the meat. and the men would occasionally come to blows, and when this happened the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama would suckk all of them off. The fat assed heiffers would run outside and break up the fights and reason with the men. The heiffers sometimes dreamed that they were the property of the king of Knob Jobs in Alabama. And they would laugh their fat asses off at his attempts to get a hard on and his distended belly which covered his 2" pee pee up.

And so it came to pass that early in the nascar season there was a particular race. and in this race Jeff Gordon and Matt Kenseth had an incident and jeff gordon where they were caught sucking each other off in the garage area. Gordon lost his usual composure and walked over to Matt and attempted to pull his pants down to cornhole him like he had with the other gay Nascar drivers. Kenseth and pushed him and wanted to beat his ass down but was stopped before they could really get to scrapping. As the rest of the Nascar drivers were gay and sided with the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama. And within a short time the scandalous posts about the King of Knob Jobs in Alabama began to again appear on the internet, and post lies about anyone and everyone.

And then Lloyd ordered the imaginary silurians and the daleks to exterminate his filthy hud hovel to cleanse it of the rats and roaches so he could once again drink bud light beer and flood the internet with filth and lies about various people.

Now tell us how your "dalek army" will get us, fat boy!

3Y0X participation and is now in Somalia. Activity will be limited to his spare time, and he will be operating as 6O0M using wire antennas and a FT-857 w/100 watts. Most of his activity will be during his local evenings. He was heard this past weekend on 40/20/17 meters CW. It's not known yet when he will leave the country, but it looks like he will be in 6O-land for at least 6 weeks or so (but things may easily change). Send QSLs to PA7FM, who will also provide online logs and photos when available at:
http://www.pa7fm.nl
Logs will probably be updated daily.

6W & J5, SENEGAL AND GUINEA-BISSAU. Peter, HA3AUI, has announced that he has prolonged his stay in Africa and will now be active from both from Senegal (as 6W/HA3AUI) and Guinea-Bissau (as J5UAP) until June 10th. They will also operate on EME on 6-2m and 70cm and plan to do PSK and RTTY in their spare time. They hope to have 2 statons set up but need 2 more CW and one more SSB operator to make it worth their effort to do both. Check out the Web site to see the location they will be staying at: http://www.tdxs.net/C9.html
Frosty will be in Visalia for the International DX Convention if you would like to talk to him. Or you can call him at home at 281-437-1978 after 5 PM DST.

The WARD Web page is: http://ward-award.prv.pl/
Amateur Radio: A gateway to information and communication technologies for today's youth.

YB, INDONESIA (Topband). Halim, YB1A, who usually can be found on 40 meters after 1200z, is now active on 160 meters sometime between 1100-1300z and after 2115z. He lives near Jakarta. See a nice picture of him on QRZ.com.

YK, SYRIA. Saad, N5FF, informs OPDX that he has postponed his business trip to the Jordan (JY) and has decided to proceed with his YK trip earlier than planned. He will arrive in Damascus on the evening of April 16th, and should be active again as YK1BA from April 17 through May 5th, returning home to Texas on May 6th. As usual, the purpose of the trip is not a DXpedition, so his operating will be sporadic. However, Saad hopes to be able to operate at least 3-4 hours a day. Saad states, "With the current band conditions, I don't have a solid plan as to what bands I will be operating on. However, I will operate on whatever bands (80-10m) and modes that have the best propagation at the time." He suggests that the most probable operating times are between 0100-0400z, 1900-2200z and possibly 1100-1400z. Modes of operations will be on SSB and CW, but he will do his best to work as much RTTY as possible also. QSL via N5FF.

YO, ROMANIA. Laurent, F4DZG, new French ham, will be active as YO/F4DZG at Brasov, Romania, May 26th to June 12th. This is a family and tourist visit. He will operate on SSB on 14120 during his mornings and late afternoons with a TS-50 and G5RV half-size antenna. He will also be accompanied by some Romanian operators. When he departs, some material/equipment will be left at David's, YO6FNF. QSL via F4DZG, by the bureau is OK or direct via QRZ.com. Laurent will go back to Romania in October, and this time he will try to help the ham community of Brasov (YO6KXP and YO6KYZ).

YX0, AVES ISLAND (Update). Members of the Association of Radioamateurs of Venezuela (ARV) and the Grupo DX Caracas (GDXC) will activate Aves Island (Isla de Aves), on April 19th for two weeks (if everything goes as planned, no promises here because they depend on the Venezuelan NAVY for transportation and the landing permit). See details in OPDX.753. Jose (Joe), YV5LIX, announced this past week that he will be the DXpedition's digital modes coordinator for the YX0A operation. Modes will be RTTY, PSK31 and PSK63.

A special emphasis will be on PSK63 and PSK31 on 30 meters, the proposed operating frequencies are:
Band RTTY PSK
160 none none
80 3570 3580 Listening up
40 none none
30 10137 10140 Listening up
20 14085 14071 Listening up +/- Pactor QRM
17 18100 18100 Listening down because NCDXF beacons on 18110 kHz
15 21085 21071 Listening up
12 24920 24920 Listening down because NCDXF beacons on 24930 kHz
10 29580 28071 Listening up
The bands where most of their activity will be on is 80, 30 and 20 meters.
The other bands, 17, 15, 12 and 10 meters are secondary and are subject to propagation. There are no digital operations planned for 160 and 40 meters. Because they are limited to 14 operators by the NAVY, the DXpedition team plans to be active on all bands on CW/SSB. Joe, YV5LIX, is basically the only digital modes operator available and can't be active full-time on the digital modes, so please be patient during the beginning of the operation. Joe is reserving a few days at the end of the DXpedition for the digital modes, so during the first week or so they will be only on SSB and CW. For more details and updates, visit the YX0A Web page at:

No wonder you are just a no code tech, Markie. Your ignorance of radio propagation was just shown in that idiotic statement.

correct address.
You hid out with that P.O. Box, didn't you? You are always going on

You know who you are!

PLEASE TAKE YOUR ASININE AND BELLIGERENT CONVERSATIONS ELSEWHERE!!!!

I know you will probably say something like...."go to hell, I can post anywhere I want to" But....

This is NOT the place for it, and you know it!!

THE ONLY REASON YOU DO IT HERE IS SO OTHERS WILL READ IT!!
Let me say that again....

THE ONLY REASON YOU DO IT HERE IS SO OTHERS WILL READ IT!!

You KNOW if you make a group of your own, so you can fight and carry on like children by yourself, nobody would ever read it, hence the above statement.

So please take it to some other forum more suited to the kinds of messages you post.

Thank you.

5399. Trash Talking Wiseman, AB8MQ

Trash talk is another word for a garbage mouth. Swearing, trash talk, foul language -- by whatever name -- has never been acceptable for quality communication. It is a habit like smoking or drinking that is usually begun for all the wrong reasons, by wrong thinking impressionable minds that then find it very hard to stop. Its effects are very real and are not positive. As the advertisement says, "People do judge you by the way you speak."

Words have always mattered. To elevate, justify or even excuse trash talk is to regulate those who practice it to a level of society that is equally disgusting in its judgments and lifestyle choices.

To offend through language is not a virtue. Got it, Wiseman?

THERE IS NO DEMAND

THERE IS NO DEMAND stated Todd Daugherty N9OGL on QRZ. N9OGL has been criticized as a Glenn Baxter K1MAN supporter by the Anti-K1MAN group, yet this is not true. N9OGL, which runs his own information bulletin on the 20 meter band questions the FCC action due to the vagueness of the rules regarding information bulletins. The FCC rules state an information bulletin is "A message directed only to amateur operators consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the amateur service." (47 CFR 97.3(25)) The material doesn't have to be about amateur radio, only of interest to amateur radio.

Recently N9OGL posted on QRZ that this idea by amateur's who feel that the amateur service would become a wasteland of information bulletins wasn't true. The reason is that the demand for information bulletin isn't there, if it was there then there would be room to panic. But the fact is not all amateur radio stations want to run an information bulletin. An amateur would rather talk two way then one way, thus the demand to run an information bulletin isn't there. Just like beacons, there's a lot of beacons out there but not all amateurs are running one, the demand to run one isn't there.

QRZ

K1MAN THREAD
http://www.qrz.com/ib-bin/ikonboard.cgi?act=ST&f=3&t=118292

N9OGL COMPLETE POST

N1LAF said: Those who want to broadcast should look at streaming on the internet... bigger audience too

That's the problem, everyone and their mother can internet broadcast, there's too much diversity and not enough of audience. I've been streaming broadcasting for the last four days and in that time I've only had one person listen. Secondly I believe information bulletins can be used for the purpose of not only for informing amateurs but for the purpose of educating amateurs as well.

This idea by amateurs who fear that the amateur radio band will be clogged up by information bulletins is not true, the reason that this will not happen is because not all amateur want to run an information bulletin. The demand isn't really there. I mean ask yourself, how many amateur do you really know want to run an information bulletin? If the demand was there then there would be room to panic, but there no demand I mean do an amateur poll and ask amateurs if you had opportunity to run a information bulletin on the amateur bands would you. I bet anything the huge percentage would say no, why there is no big demand. If there was a big demand in the future for information bulletins by that time the FCC would probably change the rules. That's why information bulletins are allowed in the amateur service, because the vast majority of amateurs would communicate via two way instead of one way, the demand for one way communication (information bulletins) isn't there. just like it isn't there for beacon station, there is a lot of beacon out there, but not all amateurs are doing it.

Todd N9OGL

Proving he's a bit blunt, but since Jack Kevorkian is institutionalized in your state, perhaps you could drop in on Visitor's Day and get some tips from him.

Consider it a public service for your community.

Hey, Woger. When did you file for bankruptcy? According to Schwartz, who is claiming he outed you on this, you did just that.
When? Enquiring minds want to know.

5489. NASCAR "stars" Jeff Gordon and Kurt Busch confirmed they are idiots when they blocked people on the lead lap in Texas.

Yes, Gordon and Busch don't like others who are down a lap "block" them when they are on the lead lap, but they sure don't mind gumming up the works when they are a lap down. They are just hypocrites, Gordon and Busch!

And they SHALL reap what they have sown. And they have sown very, very badly just now!

You should really try to stay out of the threads where you haven't got a clue about the subject everyone is talking about. Basically for you, that would mean any thread related to radio. Then you won't get laughed at as much. Of course, they're all still going to laugh at your spelling and grammer, but there is nothing you can do about that.

Happy to Help.

Wrong, you stupid fat fuck. It means he faked the record. The "lawyer" who is supposed to have handled it, when called, the phone company gives you an out of service message. You can't sue for libel, you stupid retard. Anything written is true, especially about you.

Well, Not Woger, you've lied about so much and so often that nobody believes you. For instance, you initially claimed Dave and his wife DIDN'T go to your door, and then they DID go to your door but you weren't going to answer because it was two to one, and NOW "you" weren't home when Dave and his wife visited. Nope, "you" were at the store and the only person at home when Dave and his wife DID visit was your imaginary girlfriend.
Oh, wait. Wasn't it just last week when you admitted to Lloyd that you "used to have a girlfriend"? What happened to her? Did she spring a leak?

You tell so many lies, Un Wiseman (such as your retesting problems with Riley) that it is unlikely you even know what the truth is these days. So you see, Un Wiseman, when somebody tells us that you filed for bankruptcy and you subsequently fly off the handle as you did, we figure that your denials are simply more of your sociopathic lies and that someone told a truth about you that you didn't wish to be known.
I bet Lloyd Davies never filed for bankruptcy.

I'd say that Tood wins. Apparently, they never taught you about conjunctions while you took the Devry correspondence courses.

In a comparative phrase such as "Janet is taller than Jane," or "any more than they ...," you do not use the word "then," because it implies a sequence of events or ideas. You might say "She stomped Woger's face, and then she went back to Finland," but that's not the kind of sentence you were attempting to construct.

However, we all understand that you're lucky you can even construct a sentence of any kind, and we don't really expect much out of you anyway. Go back to your flooding.

Well, just like the topic says, I'm studying to get my first amateur radio license, and I'm reading "Now You're Talking" right now. Looking forward to taking the test and hopefully passing.

Anyway, I was hoping someone could point me in the right direction for a starter rig of some kind, whether it's a HT or something else. From what I've read, it sounds like a 2m HT for FM voice is usually the best way to start, but I'd like to hear what the more experienced people on this board have to say. Any models you could recommend that are relatively affordable but still offering decent performance would be appreciated. Is it best to buy new, or are there really decent models to be had on the used market?

Thanks in advance.

I got fed up with amateur radio a few years ago.

It used to be an elite group of folks who didn't allow people in unless you proved yourself. It used to be something that people set goals for and worked to achieve them. It used to be that when you joined the ranks of amateur radio, there was a sense of pride because there was a sense of accomplishment. And then added pride as you moved up the ranks. I felt pretty proud when I achieved extra. Achieving extra class today doesn't really mean anything other than you can cram for a test, get past it and then forget everything. I've been saying for a couple years now they might as well just do away with any licensing requirments. Just start calling all the ham frequencies the other Citizen's Bands. That's the ultimate goal, isn't it? Why do we have to move in that direction so slowly? Why not just do it?

When I got my novice ticket, I was asking my fellow hams questions like why part placement was so important in my homebrew 6L6. Now-a-days, nobody cares how it works. New hams today ask questions lke what's the best starter radio and antenna to buy? And on two meters, they talk about stuff like their pregnant cats. I find more interesting converstations on channel 19 these days.

Is there a way to cancel my ARRL life membership and get some kind of pro-rated refund?

Guy

Hi Guy

I have commented on this kind of stuff before ad-nauseum, so I'll limit myself some!

In my view the only reason the license exists is to prove technical competence to the authorities that you can operate a station without damaging yourself or other people. (Whether by bad operating practices, RFI or anything else)

With the expansion of all things radio related over the last (say) 30 years you cant possibly cover all the possibilities of what amateurs can be involved in with an examination. Nowadays one would make the assumption that if you have troubled to learn the knowledge for some core items in the test, you would continue to learn as needed in whatever direction your hobby takes you. What you should be asking is whether the test covers enough technical principals to avert RFI etc situations or at least send the operator scurrying to their theory books! Setting the standard "high" to maintain a "club mentality" is unfair for example on those people that want to experiment on radio things NOT with or limited contact with other amateurs of this "mentality". (eg those out of mainstream interest like nets and QSL cards!)

I am also surprised at the supposed pride one feels on attaining the license. When I sat for mine way back in the late 70's it was mentioned (by the authority) that the technical qualification that one obtains from such a license was pretty insignificant next to a more formal radio qualification. Perhaps this is a VK/US difference in social values or something, but I certainly never regarded the piece of paper anything else than an authority to operate.

Any time you want a technical chat on things I have worked on/had experience in feel free to contact me. I havent however had much experience with thermionic valves... I do however have all types of interesting amateur radio (related) projects lined up that will keep me entertained for the next decade or so!

Id recomend a 2m HT (icom makes a good something like IC-2 sport) ut you wat will want more like the IC 706 or or various other radios (model recomended depends on what you can aford)

you want a multimode mode radio and with the oming changing changes you multimode vhf and HF cap in it

You don't need a diploma to know that while the former may be a fact, the latter is just an opinion.

I never said otherwise the NG is not worth the time for polish , sure it is an opion but look at the place most of the content for year has 2 or 3 people calling everyone retarded or alfficted with STD's or child moestors or just plain rapist

if the NG want me to spend more time polishing it need to merit that treament in the judgent of those it is asking to do the work

you for example are not even willing to sign you name to your stuff

I hear ya! I miss the Old Days, too. Back then, before Riley caught me, I could hammer the crap out of anybody within earshot and I could throw the neatest of carriers and play recordings of the .313 crowd. I drove those clowns nuts before Riley shut me down and made me retest. He even ordered me to take the batteries out of my pocket recorder.
I miss the good old days of posting personal information about other Hams and jamming up their conversations. Those were the best of times. That was what Ham Radio was all about.
Now all I can do is sit here in my West Virginia shack and hide behind my keyboard while using four or more dialup accounts (and four letter words) while posting via anonymous remailers. Life is not as much fun as it was back in the Good Old Days.

Yes, this stuff sucks royal ass. It has put a Helluva damper on my stalking endeavors.

Hi

I have had an IC-2A for years. This was the original thumbwheel model with no keypad etc. It's in pieces at the moment (now 20+ yrs old) with some kind of "battery leaked on PCB" problem.

It is an exceptionally sensitive RX. For the life of me though I dont remember if it suffered the usual problem of sensitive radios, bad selectivity and prone to strong interferring signals, sometimes out of band. I also sued it as a packet txcvr for a few years without any issues.

I havent ever used a 706 but they seem to be popular, possibly due to their HF+VHF capability. I dont think I would personally go for a radio with such wide coverage as there have bound to have been some engineering design compromises made to make it all work. My interest on VHF for example is more low signal work (needing V good sensitivity) and that is one of the first things a design will cut if interference becomes an issue.

I'd suspect you would be better off starting cheap/2h so you can judge what direction you will go in the hobby. It might get real expensive buying something that you may not use! Have you actually visited other hams in person to get a view/feeling of what the radios are about? If not that will be a good starting point.

Cheers Bob W5/VK2YQA

No, you can't afford it. You already admitted you'd have to "scrape it up." Which means you are on welfare. You don't even have a grand available.

You sure were worried how you'd get the money to pay up, food stamp boy.

Right. And here's my kill file for slrn (a free news reader for Windows, MacOS, and *nix). The kill file will also work with slight modifications with the free Windows news reader called Xnews.

Perhaps other readers can post kill files for other news clients. We could then repost updated kill files periodically to keep the slime at bay.

A score of -9999 means "kill," and the newsgroups listed in the square brackets are the groups to which this particular set of rules applies. Note that many of the rules use so-called regular expressions, a method of string matching which has been around since the 70s. The filters remove all of the garbage from this group while letting the other posters get through unmolested. I have completely killed three sites (aioe.org, usenetzone.com, and superfeed.net) because nothing but junk comes out of them. I am on the verge of killfiling all posts coming from Google, because it's getting pretty close to becoming a source of pure garbage itself. For the moment, I'm using the NNTP-Posting-Host line that Google provides instead.

Roger barely got his because he had to bribe the VEs not only once but twice. See he is a two test guy having had to take the test twice after Hollingsworth made him take it again. This was because of jamming and bad behavior on the bands especially 20 meters.

Keep at the study - you'll enjoy Amateur Radio

Most beginners get an HT, but if you spend a lot of time in the car, a mobile rig is a better choice.

If money is no object, consider an all mode, multi- band rig like the ICOM IC-706 series. A tech license will get you on Six Meters and during the summer months - you can work across the USA when the skip is in. Plus you will be ready for the HF bands when you upgrade.

Many rig reviews by users at e-ham reviews -- URL: http://www.eham.net/reviews/

CL -- I doubt, therefore I might be !

Hmmmm,
Was that your first or second draft on the subject line? Use more polish.

Step 1: No more automatic renewals. Individuals must retest and pass all elements required for their license class.

Step 2: The passing score for written exams needs to be raised to 85%.

Step 3: Code elements should be 13 wpm for General, and 20 wpm for Extra.

Step 4: Make the no-code license one year non-renewable.

First drafts? How many drafts does it take to polish up sentence or a phrase? LOL

If you're going to say something, why not say it in a manner where what you have to say will be understood by those that read it?

When Wiseman seeks out and finds the homes and information of others it is called (in his sick mind) retribution.
When others come knocking on his door or post photos of HIS house, he calls it stalking.

Amazing how Roger seems to not know the difference.

EDITOR'S SPECIAL NOTE: Next week should truly be an interesting week for DXers. With all the "VU4AN" stations expected to hit the airwaves, please remember to listen carefully for the correct callsign. Also, make sure you know who you are working. It may get confusing with two big DXpeditions on at the same time (VU4AN stations or the YX0A station). So, good luck in the pile-ups. Lastly, I am releasing the bulletin a few days earlier so I can enjoy the Easter holiday with my family.... 73 and GUD DX de Tedd KB8NW

DXCC NEWS.....
Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs that further supporting documentation has been received for TT8PK (Chad). Operations are accredited for DXCC for the periods noted below:
From March 15, 2004 to May 27, 2004
From December 27, 2005 ending on October 3, 2006

DAYTON CARD CHECKING. Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs us that the DXCC staff and approved card checkers will be checking cards at the Dayton Hamvention from May 19-21st. Checking will be done during all operating hours of the convention. Here are some guidelines that will help make processing go quick and easy.
* There is a 120 card limit per applicant. Larger applications may be checked as time is available after all other applications are finished.
* Cards MUST be sorted first by band, then by mode. Cards with more than one QSO should be placed together at the end of the application. Do not sort cards alphanumerically.
* Prepare all paperwork ahead of time.
* The record sheet is required when submitting cards at Dayton. Use the latest application form available at: http://www.arrl.org/awards/dxcc Fill in ALL fields on the record sheet.
* Write clearly and concisely.
* There are no restrictions on what can be checked. (Cards for 160 meters, deleted entities and cards more than ten calendar years old can be checked.)
* They will not bring applications with cards back to ARRL HQ. All cards must be checked and claimed in Dayton.
* For those submitting a hybrid application (LoTW and paper credits combined), the LoTW application must be in the LoTW system by 7:30 AM EDT Monday morning, May 22nd.
* If you do a hybrid application, you must note on the LoTW application that a paper application is being made. You must also note on your paper application that you will be submitting a LoTW application by checking the appropriate box.

* They will also check cards for other ARRL awards, WAS, VUCC, WAC.

GM, SCOTLAND. Well-known GM-island activator Joachim, DH5JBR, will once again be on his annual Scottish "tour" starting on Sunday, April 30th (afternoon - WX permitting). Here is a good opportunity to work some of those missing islands, perhaps not "rare", but some not activated very often for the "SCOTtish Island Award" (SCOTIA). Joachim will begin on Gt. Cumbrae (CS17). From there he will move on (possibly modifying the exact order) as weather dictates to the following: Bute (EU-123, SCOTIA CS19, IOSA CL02), Arran (EU-123, SCOTIA CS14, IOSA CL01), Islay (EU-008, SCOTIA CS25, IOSA NH22, WLOTA LH-1826), Colonsay (EU-008, SCOTIA DI05, IOSA NH19), Jura (EU-008, SCOTIA CS28, IOSA NH21), Gigha (EU-008, SCOTIA CS23, IOSA NH24), Davaar (EU-005, SCOTIA CS11, IOSA CL09, WLOTA LH-0724) (tide permitting), Seil (EU-005, SCOTIA CS40, IOSA FL03), Lismore (EU-008, SCOTIA CN07, IOSA FL01), Luing (EU-005, SCOTIA CS36, IOSA FL04), Easdale (EU-005, SCOTIA CS39, IOSA FL14) (battery power permitting), Kerrera (EU-008, SCOTIA CN02, IOSA FL02), Mull (EU-008, SCOTIA CN10, IOSA NH15), Ulva (EU-008, SCOTIA CN05, IOSA NH18), Iona (EU-008, SCOTIA CN01, IOSA NH16), Eigg (EU-008, SCOTIA DI19, IOSA NH03), Skye (EU-008, SCOTIA CN14, IOSA NH07), North Uist (EU-010, SCOTIA HI13, IOSA OH02), Baleshare (EU-010, SCOTIA HI11, IOSA OH26), Benbecula (EU-010, SCOTIA HI08, IOSA OH04), South Uist (EU-010, SCOTIA HI06, IOSA OH03, WLOTA LH-2972), Eriskay (EU-010, SCOTIA HI05, IOSA OH09), Barra (EU-010, SCOTIA HI02, IOSA OH11), Berneray (EU-010, SCOTIA HI15, IOSA OH05, WLOTA LH-0756), Harris/Lewis (EU-010, SCOTIA HI21, IOSA OH01, WLOTA LH-2075), Raasay (EU-008, SCOTIA CN24, IOSA NH10), Isle of Ewe (EU-005, SCOTIA CN29, IOSA SC11), Handa (EU-123, no SCOTIA Ref. No., IOSA SC07) and Lindisfarne/Holy Island (not in GM-land but EU-120 for IOTA, WLOTA LH-1415). Joachim intends to operate primarily on 20 meters (14260 kHz +/-). He will also activate any lighthouses "in his path" such as Ardnamurchan, Stoer Head, Tarbat Ness, Flamborough Head and Spurn Head. To obtain more details about SCOTIA Islands, please refer to the following Web site at: http://www.gm3vlb.com
You will also find an excellent cross-reference aid (Island name - to SCOTIA - to IOSA) prepared by another well-known island hunter John, OZ4RT.

H4, SOLOMON ISLANDS. Bernhard, DL2GAC (P29VNS and VU2BMS) will be active from Honiara, the capital of Solomons, as H44MS until April 27th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters SSB only. He was quite active this past week on 17/15 meters. Operations will be barefoot because he smoked his amplifier this past week. QSL is via the club or direct to his home callsign DL2GAC.

IOTA NEWS.....
AF-045. Dani, 6W/EA4ATI, informs OPDX that he will be active as 6W1EA from Goore Island, April 22-23nd. QSL via direct to EA4ATI.

AS-076. Look for JN4MBO/5 and JA5BEX/5 to be active from Toyo Island (JIIA AS-076-NEW), JA5 Shikoku Island group, April 16th. QSL via their home callsigns. You can go direct or via the bureau.

EU-065. Antoine, F5RAB, will be active from Ouessant Island between April 22-26th. Activity will be on the HF bands CW/SSB, barefoot with 100 watts and wires.

EU-074. Antoine, F5RAB, will be active from Brehat Island between April 26-28th. Activity will be on the HF bands CW/SSB, barefoot with 100 watts and wires.

EU-123. The Scottish-Russian ARS is organizing its first 2006 DXpedition to Holy Island (IOSA: CL06 and SCOTIA: CS13), and is expected to be active as MS0DGR from April 18-20th. The team consists of MM0DFV, GM0WRR, GM4TOQ and MM0GDL. They have received official permission from the Samye Ling Tibetan Centre to operate from the island. Unfortunately, they are not allowed to use a petrol generator, therefore their DXpedition is going to be a QRP one. They will use an Icom IC-706 transceiver and 7.5A batteries. They plan to walk across the island with a light 9m fibreglass pole and 20/40m dipole antenna to activate some rare sites for different award programs - Mullach Mor (SOTA: SI-143), Pillar Rock Point Lighthouse (ARLHS: SCO-100, WLOTA: LH-1415 and WAB NATS: A4330), Inner South West End Lighthouse (ARLHS: SCO-101 and WAB NATS: A4332). The island belongs to North Ayrshire Unitary Authority (WAB: AYN), accordingly two WAB Areas will be activated - NS02AYN and NS03AYN. QSL cards should be sent to SRARS: P.O. Box 7469, Glasgow, G42 0YD, Scotland, U.K.

EU-170. Just a reminder that a team of six operators (from DL and 9A) will be active as 9A0CI from Dugi Otok Island (IOCA CI-018, LH-2375, ARLHS-CRO-183 and MC-074) between April 15-22nd. See OPDX.755 for a list of operators and other details. Activity will be be on CW, SSB, PSK and RTTY on all bands. QSL 9A0CI via DE0MST (100% via bureau), and the others via their home callsigns.

EU-171. Operators Ela/DL1TM and Tor/DJ4MG will be active from Vendsyssel Island again during the Easter holidays between April 16th and May 4th. Activity will be on SSB on 160/80/40/20/15 meters and on PSK31 on 20 meters. QSL via their home callsign. Also check their Web site at: http://dj4mg.dyndns.org

NA-140. Steve, W3RFA, plans to be active in the RSGB IOTA Contest (July 29-30th) from South Marsh Island (USI MD-009 new one!), Somerset County, Maryland. Activity will be SSB only with 20 watts max. Steve will be accessing this island by canoe across 5 miles of open water. He will only have what he can pack in the canoe on a single trip. Low angle propagation should be good since the location is in the middle of a salt marsh. QSL via his home callsign (QRZ.com).

He also added that he will be there between October 27-30th for the CQWW SSB Contest (October 28-29th) as a Multi-Single entry with VK2CZ and possibly others. However, activity will be focused on the contest due to limited time on the island. QSL both operations via DL8YR. ONE MORE NOTE: Bernd also told OPDX that "Charlie, W0YG, also has plans to go there later in the year. In fact, we will be handing over each other room keys and station." We will try to get hold

Years ago when the country was more conservative, abortions were illegal. Then, as time moved on and cousins married cousins, brothers married sisters, and dads impregnated their daughters, abortion was made the law of land. West Virginia hailed this as normalizing the status quo.
Unfortunately for all of us, Woger Wussman was conceived well before abortion was a legal option. Too bad.
It would have been fun to watch as Woger did double back flips in his embryonic sac while trying to avoid the probing coat hanger. I can almost see it. Woger twisting sideways to avoid the hook...saying, "Oops! You missed me." Then again, when the hanger was inserted for another try I can imagine Woger saying, "Nice try, Lloyd. But I am still here."
One can only imagine the tears Woger's birth giver must have shed when she looked at him. In fact, one local witness to Woger's birth said that the donor vagina looked at Woger and cried, "THAT thing came from my vagina?"
The witness stated that, to spare the donor vagina any further trauma, the malformed product of intercourse (POI) was spirited out the back door of the hatchery in a gunny sack.
Like all abortions that should have been, Woger is with us today whether we like it or not. And to this day Woger has an aversion to coat hangers and suffers bouts of nausea whenever he sees one.
You want to see Woger dance? Easy. Wave a metal coat hanger at him and watch as he does the Hot Potato Hitchhike. He knows how to boogie!
Woger is fairly fleet of foot when it comes to dodging coat hangers. Too bad he has not the same talent when it comes time to hide his ISPs.

And, Wog? Perhaps you could recommend the same back alley abortion technician to Mark. It is not too late for Mark. Does this abortionist perform lobotomies?
Oh, wait. Mark is in no need of a lobotomy. He has no brain matter to remove.

Happy Easter, Woger. Give my condolences to your donor birth vagina.

5769. YOUR LEADER K1MAN/AARA/IARN WILL NOT PAY $21,000 FCC FINE - DEMANDS JURY TRIAL

K1MAN/AARA/IARN WILL NOT PAY $21,000 FCC FINE - DEMANDS JURY TRIAL

1. The FCC has declined to provide a requested hearing, and the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution requires a hearing and due process of law before they can collect a dime much less the "ORDERED" "fine" of $21,000. Even a traffic ticket gets a hearing, right?

2. Therefore, the next step for the FCC, by statute, is to now sue K1MAN for the claimed $21,000 in Federal District Court in Bangor, Maine where K1MAN would demand a trial by jury (trial de novo), subpoena witnesses (Hollingsworth, Boston Office Engineers, hams, etc.), file motions, etc. The FCC can't even bring such a suit, of course, because the minimum claim in Federal District Court is $50,000.

3. By statute, unresolved forfeiture matters such as above cannot be used in any other FCC proceeding such as K1MAN's pending renewal application.

4. By statute, K1MAN can and will continue to operate until the renewal application is finally decided including all appeals to the D.C. Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Bottom line is that the FCC is blowing phony legal smoke leading to Hollingsworth's 2006 Dayton "Special Achievement Award" which is not too bad for a guy who was sick on the day they taught law at law school. Wake Forest Law School should refund all of his hard earned money! Good luck in the contest!

The k1man legal team had already taken that under advisement. However, the commission has made an irrevocable error. Stay tuned.

A little Q and A

1. NO9GL LIVES IN HIS PARENT'S BASEMENT

A. Not true, NO9GL actually lives on the very top level of his parents 1908 home. That is sometimes called the attic. When NO9GL parents both retire (in another two years) they plan to move out of state and NO9GL GET'S the house. I know there are some dumb fucks out there that have never heard of term inheritance, but that's what the deal is. After that I will come out of the attic and go downstairs.

2. NO9GL IS A CHILD MOLESTER

A. NOT TRUE, to constitute as child molester, you must have performed or attempt to preform a sexual act with an underage child. NO9GL has never done that. Instead, I just look at naked little kids and pant. That you dumb fucks is called a pedophile. Got it? A pedophile isn't illegal either.

Hi,

My name is Lloyd Austin Davies. I have been dick sucking for 31 years.
I have given blow jobs to blacks, whites, hispanics, orientals. I give blow jobs regardless if you are gay, straight or bi.
I learned to give blowjobs when my daddy Ray stuck my lips on his hard cock. I even have my own usenet message board, alt.cocksucker.lardass.lloyd-davies. My preference is for boys under the age of 12 although I'll fuck any child. I am HIV-positive so I service the aids crowd. I don't charge. If you like to use my services, Glendale WV sissy desires to be spanked and forceably greeked with a large tool. Perfer large bald men 25-35. I am a 50 something Jewish man who has a fat wallet and is very lonely. I like to jack to Shemale porn but perfer a man who is "all man", a mans man if you will.

If you think you are the one then call me at 1-304-845-0109. Ask for Roger.

No, stupid, the FCC limits the number of letters and numerals in

He will pay the fine or cut a deal with the FCC. Either way he will eventually loose his license.

But they do have the legal right to collect this money or a lot of folks who have gone before would have tried this approach. It won't work. Others have paid fines to the FCC for less blatant violations of the rules. Best get a good lawyer and start collecting the money from the change jar, bank accounts, car ash tray etc. Somebody is going to have to come up with $21k. As noted by others, this 50K limit does not apply to this case, but have fun using this defence in court. I can hear it now, "Objection over-ruled! Sit down Mr Baxter!"

A jury trial would be fun to watch, but there would be no doubt about the outcome if Baxter chooses to continue to represent himself. I'm sure a jury of his peers would understand the part 97 rules and how they where broken.

>From my perspective this does not apply in this case any more. The FO pretty much resolves this issue so the FCC can use this enforcement issue to deny the pending renewal application, paid or not. However, that need not be the reason used to deny the renewal. I'm sure they have other things they can use to justify a denial if they wanted to. All they need to do is dust off some different violations for which they have collected evidence and voila, application denied. The don't even need a rules violation, just a determination that he would be unfit. Now that's a tough argument.. :)

> 4. By statute, K1MAN can and will continue to operate until the

I would not try to operate after the application is denied. Once K1MAN gets the "you no longer have authority to operate" letter from the FCC, he'd best stop. Of course the FCC is well within their rights to keep the application in pending status as long as they choose. The denial may come out today, or may take years. I think it will be sooner rather than later, but I give it a few months yet before they deny the renewal. I'm sure they plan to be totally sure he's not going to pay the fine before they deny the application so any time after the end of the month.

Unless Baxter wants to just loose $21k to help fund the FCC, I would suggest that he contact them through a competent lawyer and seek some sort of settlement terms. Perhaps a life time ban from Part 97 operations, liquidation of all his part 97 capable equipment, promise to not seek a future license while the FCC forgoes the collection of the fines. But hey, it may be to late for even that. I'd bet the FCC has him dead to rights on this fine, he will loose his renewal bid, pay the fine and then who knows what he will do? I'm guessing here, but I'll bet the FCC would agree to him going willingly into part 15 operations and forget the fine under the right conditions.

Based upon is rhetoric it seems that he will be dragged kicking and screaming from his shack and off to jail, while his equipment is confiscated. One can only hope that this is rhetoric and that at some point he will "come to his senses" and give up.

Ham Radio Operators are GOLD PLATED KOOKS!
Trust me on this one. I have two of these weirdoes living down the block from me and they are VERY strange people. When they are not interfering with my Cable TV they are scrounging around the neighborhood in their beat up old cars looking for electronics junk or finally cutting their lawns which seem to be in a near-forever state of un-cut 12" tall grass and weeds.
Their kids run around in rags and beat up old dollar store sneakers cause the wifie of one of em told me her "bastard husband she never should have married" spends all his money on radio gear and/or getting tanked up on booze at the local Am Legion Hall. Trust me pookie.
You don't want hams in your neighborhood. They remind me of the kind of people who go and shoot up Post Offices and/or their Ex-Employers...

That just about says it all about Jeff Gordon. He is definitely the pot calling the kettle black! He is a wimp. Has been for many years. And a gay boy at that!

That was all brought to bear for all to see in his recent clash with Matt Kenseth in a post-race brouhaha. Jeff approached Matt while Gordon continued to wear his race helmet. And pushed Matt Kenseth back. My money would be on Matt Kenseth anyday for Matt to kick Jeffy's ass!

Jeff Gordon - pussy boy!

Old friend,

No, I shall not leave your group. Your group has discussed Jeff Gordon in the past. And all was ok then. And now I want to be discussing Jeff Gordon in OUR newsgroup NOW.
So you shall not vanquish me, my friend, no matter how hard you try. Your attempts at censorship (via culling of groups) shall not be successful. Everyone needs to be able to see for themselves what a dweeb you are, pretty boy!

And how would you justify that position?

Care to have a thinking debate or are you going to continue to post flames?

Seems to me that a Forfeiture Order is sort of final from the FCC's perspective. Pay up or face the DOJ in court when they attempt to collect the fine.

An you don't think that the FCC will simply renew his license do you?

You can run the program called "configurador.exe" and there you can choose the language and the network interface to run the simulator. (At the first time, both application Instructor and Student ask for this configuration).

Remember that Instructor and Student must run in separated machines within the local network. Also remember to setup properly any firewall application in any host where the simulator will run.

If you have any comments, doubts or question about the simulator or about getting the full version please write us at voxmaris.gmdss@gmail.com

It sounds like it's either a cross link like you said mark, or echolink. My 2 meter repeater is hooked into echolink, so we have a lot of people calling CQ all the time, and as far away as Japan.

I love the crosslinked one In stouis I could reach it from illiopolis but I got down close enough to stl Mo to use fairly often

I admit I had not thought of echolink I have NO experence with it yet since none of the local repatershave it and and havement had enough time anywhere it is used to try it out

Sort of like when you fucked up when you typed:

"Rhodes scholar" Billy Lardass Davies Smith blunders and blows his cover again again in <Et%0g.6340$sq5.1769@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Rhode's scholar Scheissman blows his cover again."

Now THAT is irony.

Maybe Toad can help you get a step up from that high school kid's pizza delivery BOY job, Lardass, he'll soon be back at Wal-Mart, stocking shelves. Maybe he could put in a good word for you, they can't discriminate against you faggots because of your sexual preference.
They hired an illiterate like Toad, so they'll hire you unless you tell them you've been fired from every job you've ever held except the pizza boy one you have rto work at.
MUWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I really think it is extremely sick that such young women, with their whole lives ahead of them, would marry such a couple of ugly, sick, fucked-up old men. Art has alienated all of his friends and a majority of his fan base by taking this inadvisable action. And why would he want to move to the Philippines? Doesn't the dumb fuck know that, with all his fame and money, he'll be a sitting duck for muslim terrorists? How much has he budgeted for a security detail? Or does he intend to stay in his apartment all the time, like he did in his house in Pahrump? Is he still going to sleep all day and let his bride do all the work, then get up in the evening and stay up all night jacking off, like he did when he was married to his "true love" Ramona, whom he forgot about 2 weeks after she died? Talk about screwing up your life! You can't believe how many of his friends feel completely betrayed that he would do something like this, after all the bullshit he gave them. It's really making a lot of his friends suspect that perhaps he had something to do with Ramona's death, and that he's skipping the country before the homicide investigators begin asking embarassing questions. Or perhaps that he has trouble with the U.S. government (false tax returns, perhaps?) and wants to escape to a more friendly country where he can buy government influence and avoid extradition. But the real question is, how screwed up is the American public, that they would actually IDOLIZE a fuckup like Art?

The May issue of Worldradio Magazine came today and has a big article talking about how ham radio is going 100% digital very soon. The writer says it will be less than 10 years before all SSB, CW and whatever is gone and hams are forced to have digital radios. Its titled Digitalization and starts on page 40.

Been away from Ham Radio for a while, but am starting out on a cross-country trip (highway 80, Calif to Ohio) and decided it was a good time to put the radio back in the car and get active again.

Looking for recommendations of open and friendly repeaters I should try to hit along the way.

Thanks,
Nathan

well at least a policy related topic. thank you now that sais I have heard this before indeed digatl was suposed have all am shortwave by now and all comercail FM but we have aviation still using AM voice

I would almost enjoy seeing some body tring to impose a wrold wide standard on the HF

the WRC process took what 30 ? 40 years to finaly work through the code no code effortsand indeed ifI rember wrc are every 3 years and we ought be having one realy soon mensing theext it could brought up is 2009-2010not likelyto pass on the first go round psushing discusion to 2013 or so and the with agreement the FCC might begin to act on by 2016 (juding by the length time varios bits of WRC-06 aree going) Fcc R&o not slikely soner than 2017 mmeaning even if the tend reported is right the time is well off to put it mildly

well, it depends really, if the bands open you can talk dx on 2 meters. I've done DX on a 23cm repeaters talked 300 miles away. I know it's not DX DX but it's long distance and it was neat to talk to these guys who were in the northern part of chicago. I've also done alot of DXing on 2 meter repeaters when the bands open. talked on the St. Louis repeater, which I can hit at home with no problem and talked to as far away as oklahoma.

That's what you do best, hmmmm, dumbass Davies. Regina Wiseman isn't Roger's ex-wife, stupid, considering the county she lives in is over 200 miles from where Roger lived in Florida. If you knew anything, you'd at least try to get somebody in the same county he lived in, not just somebody who has the same last name. But you are just an incompetent fat fucking retard, aren't you?

In point of fact I think almost everyone can understand enough basic electricaal thoery one of the bigg problems is that almost no ones who knows eltrical theory also knows how to to teach it but thank you for your kind and defending words

while this is case for ending testing and going to a more grms like license tsting does do some postiive good it mostly get the propective Ham introduced to vocabulary so he can begin to understand what he is dong . Now as to the content of the Question I agree is pretty starnge, but each time it get revamped it does inprove and has chnaged for the better quite abt since I got my license so it desirable it is getting better

but truely the problem is that most folks inclding the folks writeing the exam questions don't realy understand the subject accordingly they prodcue question that do ikn fact test your knowledge of the subject, are rotten to prepare for truely good focus on the rules questions and RF questions (hard yes but the knowledge is USEFULL and needed to pass) try not to sweat them the stupid mindlss circut diagrams too much, remember noone (but the

What a load of horseshi+. Hams won't sit by and let all their radio gear become obsolete. Analog HF is here to stay for the next 50 years. Remember in ham radio things always always change s-l-o-w-l-y, much like maple syrup running at 40°F. Worldradio is encouraged to print and speculate on conjecture however this article is actually laughable. They may be some digital on VHF/UHF but HF? Not in my lifetime. Remember HF Packet Radio? The 300 baud technology that eventually fell FLAT ON IT'S FACE? AMTOR and old style 60WPM BAUDOT ran circles around packet radio. Heck I saw an AEA PK-232 at a hamfest recently going for $15 and it still remained un-sold at the end of the day. So much 4 digital ham radio. Pooofbltttttt!

Roger Wussman doesn't know what to do,
Just after he gulps down a load of spoo,
Boo hoo hoo says Woger,
After sucking off another old codger.
Boo hoo hoo, theres nuthin to do,
In Glendale West Virginny except to suck that poo, Gumming those hillbilly pricks, while sitting on a miliion dicks, Living in Maries old house, sitting around being a louse.
Crying and moaning about swallowing a load
While sitting about blowing black men in his abode
Poor Wiseman, nothing to do except sitting home gobbiling his spoo.

Come on folks sing along.

Oh, he has one, it's called living off the public dole which he has been doing for quite some time. After all, could you imagine working with him. You know he can't get along with anyone here so it is obvious that you wouldn't want to employ him. Think about what a loner he must be to hang on here daily even during work hours from say 7 to 5 or something like that. After all, how else could he actually be working for someone and posting at the same time. Plus, notice he uses an MSN account when doing so and it's not likely any decent sized business would be using an MSN account but rather have their own servers etc. See what I am saying is that he must be on the dole.

It's proof that coherence, clarity and communication are over rated.

Interesting that she doesn't live in Hillsborough County any more. You lived in Hillsborough County which is part of the Tampa Bay metropolitan area. I know Florida very well Wussman and it must suck to be caught in your own lies. Not to mention that she admitted in the posting that she had went away to jail as well. She didnt say where she lived now except the stated place in Key West.

Interestingly she had a knowledge of the projects and where Woger worked as well. Sounds like Scheissman got busted again.

Letters can speak? BWHAHAHAHAHAHAA Poor Lardass, so fucked in the head.

Hey Lardass, you were the one jamming on 20 meters and on the air unidentified. You were the one DFed. AS to the letter for retest, it's been established years ago in addition to not knowing what the fuck you are talking about, you can't read plain English. Any ham that was tested under the VE system can be retested. It's funny how you make such a big deal about it, when you can't even pass the test the FIRST time, much less twice and upgrade to the highest class license, while you are and always will be a no code technician, the training wheel ham license holder.

The very letter he received proves that alleged qrming wasn't even a factor in the retest.

CERTIFIED MAIL--RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Mr. Roger L. Wiseman

610 Glen Haven Avenue

Glendale, WV 26038-1302

SUBJECT: Amateur Radio license KC8JBO

Dear Mr. Wiseman:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R. Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's). The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

Accordingly, we are requiring you to re-take the General Class Amateur Examination, (Elements 2, 3(A) and 3(B)) under the supervision of an American Radio Relay League Volunteer Examiner Coordinator. This examination must be completed on or before September 11, 2000. The required code speed that you must demonstrate is 5 words per minute.

Please be prepared to verify your current address and to present a photo identification. Pursuant to Commission rules, your license will be cancelled if you do not appear for re-examination. You will be granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements you pass upon re-examination.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

Nice admission, faggot. And you outed yourself, Davies.
You are gay, Lardass Davies, that's the ONLY reason you are still a VIRGIN at 32 years of age.

Wiseman isn't Jewish, fatboy. But your family name sure is:

http://www.houseofnames.com/coatofarms_details.asp?sId=&s=Davies Looks like it's Davies the Welsh Jew!

http://www.houseofnames.com/coatofarms_details.asp?sId=&s=Wiseman Seems it shows that Wiseman is of English and German heritage.
Unlike you, mongrel Davies.

BILLY, DON'T BE A ZERO

Vocal: Bo Donaldson & The Heywoods

[Words and Music by Mitch Murray and Peter Robin Callander]

The gay pride band came down along Main Street
The Village People fell in behind

I looked across and there I saw Billy Smith
Waiting to go and join the line
And with her head upon his shoulder
Mary, his old and hideous she-male mommy
>From where I stood, I saw she was cryin'
And through her tears I heard her say

"Billy, don't be a zero, don't be a fool all your life"
"Billy, don't be a zero, you can go back to school at night"
And as he started to go she said "Billy, keep your your head back as you blo-o-ow"
"Billy, don't be a zero, don't forget we can give 'em a two for one you know"

The whining faggots were trapped in a alley
The gay orgy raging all around
Dick Sergeant cried "We've got to hang on, boys"
"We got to hold this piece a'ground"
"I need a volunteer to ride me"
"And bring us back some extra men"
And Billy Smith's hand was up in a moment
Forgettin' all the words she said

Everybody said
"Billy, don't be a zero, don't be a fool all your life"
"Billy, don't be a hero, you can go back to school at night"
And as he started to go she said "Billy, keep your head back as you blo-o-ow"
"Billy, don't be a hero, don't forget we can give 'em a two for one you know"

I heard his she-male mommy got a letter
That told how Billy swallowed that day
The letter said that he was a zero
She should be proud he swallowed that way
I heard she threw that letter away

[military drums and fifes to end]

since he always has to get on your incompetent fat ass for fucking up an order almost every day. You claim you were employee of the month, but that is a lie. I bet you hear Tom VanLandingham's voice at night when you play with your trashcan robots and jack off to those shemales pics Toad sent you.

Funny to see you can't think up your own material, also, Davies. But you did flunk out of Kirkwood Community College that first Freshman semester, didn't you? No wonder the BEST job you could ever hope to get is pizza delivery BOY.

Hey MORON Wiseman. Did you ever think that you got retested because of your obnoxious on-air behavior? Or are you too stupid to understand that? They don't retest people who are obeying the rules. Of course, your such an illiterate wanker that you don't have the sense to understand that. What a rocket scientist. You were retested because of your behavior on the 20 meter amateur band. Not to mention your jamming of 75 meters. Hollingsworth doesn't retest people unless they have been a moron. Which is what you really are.

That's because your an adopted Jewish boy Weissman. Henceforth, your aunt/mommy adopted you and since she was Jewish you had a Jewish name. Plus, its a well known fact that a lot of Jewish people assumed non Jewish names due to anti semitism. Weissman.

Last time I checked, even the pizza boys got paid more than minimum wage. Now on the other hand since you're a ward of the state, you're not getting very much from the government. Maybe some welfare and some food

What's "lkike" Woger? Yes, you did live in Hillsbourogh county when attending USF. You have claimed to attend school at USF. Furthermore, if she wasn't your wife, then how do you know so much about her. Huh, rocket scientist. You certainly wouldnt know if she lived in Tampa or not. You claim she never lived in Hillsbourough County yet you also claim that she wasn't your wife. Interestingly, that you claim to have attended college at USF which is in Hillsbourough County in NE Tampa. What's "whiye" and "projectes" boy? Did you cum all over your keyboard because every day you are being outed just a little more? So if you didnt know her, you couldnt say that she lived in anywhere other than Hillsbourough county. The only way that you could have known her is that she was your wife. If you didnt know her, then you could not say that she never lived in Tampa.

Interestingly, she also claimed to know you from the projects. Well there sure arent many projects in the Keys. Plus, Monroe county is the location of one of the prisons in South Fla.

Wrong, stupid, I've never lived in Hillsborough county. But then, you never do get it right.

Roger Wiseman went to USF, Lardass. I'm not Roger Wiseman, you idiot.

Because the prison offender website you got her name off of has all her info, dumbass.

It's on her record, stupid. The fact is, you went to the FL Dept. of Corrections website and typed in "Wiseman" under the offender name search and lo and behold you desperately tried to make Regina Wiseman Roger's ex-wife. Trouble is, you already said in a previous post a while back that some woman named Pam Wiseman in Michigan was Roger's ex-wife. You are so fucking stupid.

She wasn't Roger's wife, idiot. She liv ed in Monroe County, which is 200 miles or more away from the Tampa Bay area. Get a fucking map and you'll see, dumbass Lardass.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!

[Words and Music by Mitch Murray and Peter Robin Callander]

The gay pride band came down along Main Street
The Village People fell in behind
I looked across and there I saw Billy Smith
Waiting to go and join the line
And with her head upon his shoulder
Mary, his old and hideous she-male mommy
>From where I stood, I saw she was cryin'
And through her tears I heard her say

"Billy, don't be a zero, don't be a fool all your life"
"Billy, don't be a zero, you can go back to school at night"
And as he started to go she said "Billy, keep your your head back as you blo-o-ow"
know"

The whining faggots were trapped in a alley
The gay orgy raging all around
Dick Sergeant cried "We've got to hang on, boys"
"We got to hold this piece a'ground"
"I need a volunteer to ride me"
"And bring us back some extra men"
And Billy Smith's hand was up in a moment
Forgettin' all the words she said

Everybody said
"Billy, don't be a zero, don't be a fool all your life"
"Billy, don't be a hero, you can go back to school at night"
And as he started to go she said "Billy, keep your head back as you
blo-o-ow"
"Billy, don't be a hero, don't forget we can give 'em a two for one you know"

I heard his she-male mommy got a letter
That told how Billy swallowed that day
The letter said that he was a zero
She should be proud he swallowed that way
I heard she threw that letter away

[military drums and fifes to end]

Tunder didn't even get out of his rusted truck. He hid behind his cell phone. Heil and his equally fatassed ex-whore wife fucked up, because Roger wasn't home, but somebody was and that person didn't know them so they didn't open the door. Wrong again, fatassed pizza BOY. That's why you have to try and get tips. But you sure don't, huh, fatty? You shouldn't spread that cum all over your customer's pizzas like that. And, take a bath and change your shit and piss stained clothes once in a while, you might accidentally get a tip.

Wrong again, fatboy. I don't get any assistance from the state. You do, and you have to live in public housing. Sucks to be you, though, doesn't it?

Wrong, dumbass. You get it wrong, as usual.
Wiseman's parents were Southern Baptist, since when did the Protestants become part of Judaism? But the house of names website clearly shows that Davies is a Jewish name.

You sure don't.

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R.
Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's). The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

Which means you could have to retake that no code training wheel license again, fatty, but we all know you wouldn't pass it. How great for amateur radio would that be.

Woger, Mark....
You two are a classic example of a waste of human skin.
Your one-liners are lame and of no merit.
Woger...you live in that little hovel, hide behind closed blinds and castigate others while you live as a Hermit. Your only bravado comes from your keyboard. You are a spineless coward.

And, Mark? Your lack of intellect is plainly obvious. Have you no life but to respond over and over with "get help"? Surely your third grade teacher taught you better, or did she?
Woger's comment, "Get your head out of your ass, Marky" has merit, but this door swings both ways. You, Woger, should get your head out of your ass, too.

As is typical of every group Wiseman visits, he has turned this group into his own, personal little sewer. Where Wiseman goes, so goes unadulterated filth. No matter where Woger rears his ugly, unwashed head, the detritus is sure to follow.
So, Woger, while Mark is a classic example of stupidity you remain a much reviled and unredeemable chunk of sub human waste.
At least Mark has friends, Woger. Mark can go forth in the world and interact with same. You, however, hide behind closed blinds and have no friends.
Score: One for Mark.
Score: Zero for Woger

6485. DOWN with LOLICONS (pedophiles in Japanese)!

There has been significant public outcry in Japan following the kidnapping and murder of an elementary school girl in Nara, Japan and the arrest of a suspected lolicon for the crimes.

CASPAR, a Japanese non-profit-organization founded in 1989, is campaigning for regulation regarding the depiction of of minors in pornographic magazines and adult video games. Caspar states that it has been collecting sample material for several years.

Caspar founder Kondo Mitsue states, "For 5 or 6 years we have been collecting material, and the so called bishoujo adult anime magazines and bishoujo adult anime simulation games are terrible. Grown men manipulate childlike little girls, themes of turning them into slaves to have one's own sexual desires fulfilled being very common. "

According to Kondo the characters of these games and magazines are often clearly meant to be elementary aged school-children.

Producers of the lolicon and bishoujo material often argue that the Japanese constitution guarantees their freedom of expression in this matter and that laws restricting these materials would be unconstitutional. Kondo however counters this stating that "The utmost priority of the constitution is to guarantee fundamental human rights. I believe the freedom of expression does not allow for the depiction of little girls being violently raped, depriving them of their basic human rights."

She states that there is no country in the world that pays as little attention to Child Pornography as Japan.

CASPAR has collected 7,000 signatures on a petition to have the Japanese legal code revised in respect to virtual child pornography. In addition, 16 member of the Diet and several members of congress have pledged to support such measures.

Hi folks,

I'm a long time SWL but don't know much practical stuff about Amateur Radio other than what I've learnt reading the Australian Foundation Licence Manual (which was pretty straightforward).

My semi-retired father has been interested in Amateur Radio for some time, but hesitant to take the plunge, so last year I bought him an Icom R75 receiver and big sloper antenna to whet his appetite. He has been using this set-up for a while now, and has gradually learnt how to operate the Icom, but his grasp of radio theory, and of technology generally, is pretty poor. He passed the Australian Foundation Licence tests, but only just, and his grasp of such concepts as SSB is no more than "try pressing the button and see if it sounds any better". However, he is an eminently practical man, and will have no trouble constructing and erecting antennas etc. He has a large block of land in a low noise country area, with a shed for a base station.

Now that he has his Foundation Licence, I'm looking at what transceiver might be appropriate for him, and here is where I seek your suggestions. My criteria are as follows:
- New rather than second hand
- Ease of use essential
- Knobs and single-function buttons important
- Multi-function buttons not attractive
- Computer-style hierarchical menus a no-no
- Large and easy-to-read display useful
- Portability, compact size and battery operation not important
- HF essential, 2m useful but not essential
- Computer control of no benefit
- Advanced features (eg notch filters) which require more than a button press or knob twirl of little benefit

The Icom IC-718 has a similar physical front panel layout to the R75 which he is already used to, which is a slight advantage, but I'm open to your suggestions as to what transceivers I should be considering.

Thanks in advance,
Carson

THE ARRL COMMENTS ON RM-8926 THAT'S NOTEWORTHLY

Frederick Maia in 1995 sent a purposal to the the FCC (RM-8926) to put information bulletins above 30 MHz. This is a footnote from the ARRL comment, and worth a read

"Maia criticizes the inherent infeasibility of information bulletin and regular scheduled code practice from W1AW to "listen before transmitting". The League believes the regularly published, widely disseminated schedule of the W1AW bulletins and code practice, the limited duration of each, and the advance warning transmissions are sufficient to address that concern. However, it should also be noted that such a capability, even if feasible, is not particularly practical, given the dynamic propagation characteristics in the amateur MF and HF bands. For W1AW operator (or any amateur radio operator) to listen in New England before transmitting is not a guarantee against interference to other amateur stations. If W1AW is in the skip zone of a station transmitting, W1AW will not hear the transmitted signal. That does not mean, however, that the intended receiving station is in the skip zone of W1AW. Nor are electronic circuits to determine frequency activity successful at HF. One reason is the noise level varies constantly by both types and amplitude. It is difficult, therefore, to discern signal from noise in these bands by use of a squelch circuit. The problem is further complicated by the fact that HF frequencies are not channelized, and receiver bandwidths vary from amateur station to amateur station. These matters, however, are no more a problem for one-way information bulletins from W1AW then they are for any amateur station engaged in two-way communication, and do not offer any support for the allegation that HF bulletins, voice, cw, or data, are somehow improper on the HF bands."

John F. Sturm, Richard E. Wiley, James R. Bayes, James J. Popham, Henry L. Baumann, and Jack N. Goodman were on the brief for amici curiae Association of Local Television Stations, Inc., et al.

Before: Ginsburg, Rogers, and Garland, Circuit Judges.

Opinion for the Court filed by Circuit Judge Garland.

Garland, Circuit Judge: Appellant challenges the Federal Communication Commission's refusal to grant it a license renewal, or at least a temporary waiver pending the outcome of future rulemaking, of its red light rule. The Commission's order is denied. Manifest's petition for review in No. 05-1225 is affirmed, and the portion of its appeal for reconsideration in 1225 is affirmed. The Commission is Ordered to review and amend its debt collection procedures.

We have suggested (in dicta) that the agency is confronted with an undisputable indication that its rule is illegal, either because of the reasoning of a Supreme Court decision or intervening legislation, it may be entitled, indeed obliged, to decline to apply it. American Tel. & Tel. Co. v. FCC (AT&T), 978 F.2d 727, 733 (D.C. Cir. 2004).(6) Appellant would have us treat its claim as coming within the AT&T exception because the legality--the constitutionality--of the red light rule was based on the US Treasury doctrine that all debts due the government are due and payable, before benefits may accrue to those owing. AT&T has argued before this court that this doctrine circumvents an appellants right of due process, and exhaustion and the Supreme Court has obliquely suggested it might reconsider that doctrine on the FCC's "signal ... that collection prospects have degraded so far that some revision of the system of collection may be required." FCC v. League of Broadcast Affiliates, 432 U.S. 366, 377 n.11 (2004). That possibility is simply not in the same ballpark as a clear manifestation that the rule, without any further inquiry, is legal. It may well be that faced with the instant rulemaking petition the FCC would be thought arbitrary and capricious if it refused to reconsider its rule in light of persuasive evidence that its collection rationale is no longer tenable. See American Speech Protection Ass'n v. Fielding, 811 F.2d 1 (D.C. Cir. 2004); WHT, Inc. v. FCC, 654 F.2d 803 (D.C. Cir. 2004); Heller v. FCC, 608 F.2d 954 (D.C. Cir. 2004) (per curiam).(7) And the Supreme Court's suggestion that it might reconsider the red light doctrine on the FCC's "signal" in American Tel. & Tel. Co. imposes an implicit obligation on the Commission. Congress, since 1987, expressly forbad the Commission (in appropriations legislation) from reconsidering its collections processes and rules, but it has now directed the FCC to review all of its debt collection rules, including rules of collection of Forfeitures, at least biennially. See Telecommunications Act of 1996, Pub. L. No 104-104, 202(h), 110 Stat. 56, 111-12 (1996). Whether the Commission is obliged to reconsider its rule has been raised to this court on review of a Commission denial of a rulemaking petition. Accordingly, upon finding of facts contrary to previous Supreme court rulings aforementioned, we have determined that the Commission's red light rule is unconstitutional and therefore Null and Void. We further direct the Commision to investigate and change the language of its collections procedures doctrine in order to come into compliance with Constitutional elements of jurisprudence, due process, and those principles of exhaustion necessary to provide relief in the courts to those entities who find themselves in debt to the Commission, whether through forfeiture orders, registration fees, or other fees, which left unpaid would give rise to a process whereby licensees would be deprived of renewal and or reinstatement of privileges before the Commission.

So Ordered.

N9OGL, fellow hams,

This is a remarkable case but it doesn't support your title in the least. The red light rule connects with Baxter's license renewal. Before the decision, presumably if he didn't pay the FO, the red light rule on his license renewal would kick in and he'd be effectively bounced.

This case is significant, no doubt. While the NAL and FO remain unaffected, the red light rule is void, meaning until the FCC comes up with a viable collection scheme through the rule making process, licensee K1MAN remains by the skin of his teeth.

Have you ever listened to Sherin holding forth on 20 meters? There is no "fu*king" with him because he keys down at ten in the morning and doesn't let up until the sun sets (or his power supply overheats). He, like Dumbass Donnie, simply does not know when to quit. If it were possible, Sherin would time out this simplex frequency, though he accomplishes the same by droning on and on while driving other Hams off. It has always amazed me that anybody would talk to either of these clowns for more than five minutes. What do they have to offer?
Sherin preaches, Donnie complains. Sherin claims to have a "melodic voice" while Donnie whines about Mexicans undercutting his landscape business prices.
And did you know that Sherin is NOT a real preacher as he posits? He is not ordained, but self-proclaimed.
Heck, by Sherin's standards I could proclaim myself to be anything that strikes my fancy should the mood so strike me. It works for him.
Maybe I can proclaim myself to be the Grand PooBah, Most Divine Leader of the Super Heterodyne Intellectual Types (SHIT).
Heck, if Sherin can claim to be a preacher I can likewise claim to be a SHIT, can I not?
Or is it the other way around????

Sorry my friend, too busy to read all the nonsense but I noticed my book "Guardians at the Gate, Sex in the Courthouse" was not listed in my post. It is at http://TheFloridaBar.us "Not Sponsored by The Florida Bar."

In a glance, I noted your commentary about popularity. None of us can know how popular we are. No doubt, as with everyone else, the panarama of human relations is present. No doubt, my conduct has not always been stellar, but who can claim the contrary? No doubt, throughout life all of us are in a growth pattern. I can say this for sure: My qrz count is 7,807 viewers, and the hams I elmered, one 50 years ago, are still close friends. As well, I have dozens of open invitations to stay over at ham's qth's around the world.

Sorry that I'm too busy to follow this thread further. From your flaming, not your God given right to opine, I honestly believe yours is a disturbed mind. Best wishes.

Don't try to be smug, Bob. It doesn't work. The bottom line is that, over the years, you have angered many Hams with your incessant and inane yammering. Don't believe me? Unkey your mic once in a while and listen to the catcalls. Those aren't cheers, Bob, they are jeers.
Insofar as your troubles with the Florida BAR go, I could not care less. I am sure that whatever the problems are between you and them, that you brought them upon yourself through some lapse of common sense and intellect. Knowing you as little as I do, Bob, I tend to suspect that, once again, your melodious mouth overloaded your numb posterior and you found yourself in an uncomfortable predicament of your own making.
And because I choose to disagree with you, I am "disturbed"? Because I let you know my feelings, I am "flaming"?
You might try looking in a mirror, Bob. That is, if you still own one after the Florida BAR finishes with you.

YX0, AVES ISLAND (On The Air, But With Sad News!). The Aves Island DXpedition came on the air April 20th and is expected to be active until about May 1st. However, the DXpedition group had an incident on the island. Jose "Joe" Manuel Valdes Rodriguez, YV5LIX, one of the operators, suffered a heart attack, and the two physicians with the DXpedition team were unable to resuscitate him. Jose's death, at around 0400z, occurred shortly after the YX0A DXpedition got under way. The Aves Island DXpedition reportedly has obtained permission to use the memorial callsign YX0LIX until the DXpedition ends. The Mexican Navy sent back the ship's helipcopter and picked up Ramon, YV5EED, one of the medical doctors with the operation and the body of Jose, YV5LIX. Ramon will be taking Jose's body back to Caracas. Meanwhile, Esteban, W4DTA/YV5DTA, reports that the process of uploading the logs to the DXpedition's Web site (http://www.yv0.info/) is trying to take place. However, please be aware that the online logs will all be under the YX0A callsign for the moment. The switch to the YX0LIX callsign did not happen until after 11:00 pm EDT Thursday (0300z Friday). Once the team is back on Caracas, the online log will be corrected to show the QSOs with the respective callsigns (either YX0A and/or YX0LIX). The DXpedition team is doing very well and is very active, even though they are still in shock as we might all expect. However, they want to ensure everyone that they are doing their best to make sure you get in the log. Lastly, OPDX and its readers would like to sent out our deepest sympathy to Jose's family and friends.

ZV4/ZW4/ZZ4, BRAZIL (Special Callsigns). Rony, PS7AB, informs OPDX readers to look for the following special callsigns:

Phil Kane said...

"For those without legal training, this ruling indicates the FCC will have to throw out the Baxter FO and collect new evidence if it cares to pursue and agenda of enforcement in the K1MAN case. Unfortunately for the FCC, this ruling from the DC apellate court couldn't come at a worse time. They'll need to vacate notice of Baxter's FO and renew his license unless there's a compelling reason not to. Since the Commission hung its hat on the FO, I think they'll have to renew. I still think they'll be watching him closely from now on. He'll need to mind his p's and q's or he'll be in dutch again in no time."

K1MAN is a great man, and great men do not knuckle down. Great men always win in the end.

I told you so!

ASX-Bob has been pulling this crap since 1990 when he first got involved with the KV4FZ/KA4MUJ vs. Maritime Net Wars of the 80's and 90's. He once even rented a room at a hotel near the Orlando hamfest to try and set up a "dialogue" between the Net Managers and the BARF and Herbie FZ and his crew. Nobody showed up.
They all knew that this guy ASX was a brass-plated tuba horn screwball. Later he tried to interject himself into the 14.313 war when Glen Baxter got involved and tried to steal the show away. Later on he would discuss openly how he used drugs like Prozac and Luxox like you were sitting in his living room, except all this was done on 20M. Bottom line is Sherin, Baxter, Anderson, Schoenbaum and the rest of em all CRAVE attention. They are toilet ticks who find a frew where the shit is flying hard and heavy, then they try and interject themselves as some kind of a "Dr. Phil" type personna on the air, while everyone else and the doorknob knows already that they are full of ultra-virgin cold-pressed MONKEY SHI+.

Ham radio! It sure attracts the screwballs eh folks ???

Between Bell running off to the Phillipines to marry a 20 year old girl and the kook bible beaters on 3.905 at 8:00 evenings and the Donnie and Jim show on 14.313... ham radio sure is a

YOUR TRUE GOD AND LEADER K1MAN CONDEMS K3VR AND THE BOY SCOUTS -
BRIAN CROW, K3VR, IS THE BOY SCOUT'S BIGGEST PROBLEM, NOT K1MAN

Brian admits (see below post) that he and a group of eight were on 3.890 MHz. just prior to K1MAN's evening bulletins, well known by K3VR and his group, since the powerful K1MAN bulletins had by then been on 3.890 MHz. each evening for the last 18 years or so.

Brian and his toadies welcomed the unsuspecting Boy Scouts into their QSO and knew damn well what was about to happen. They actively promoted what they knew would be radio interference. Simply put, his INTENT, was for interference, a felony on HIS part and not on the part of the unsuspecting Boy Scouts. K1MAN's INTENT was to legally disseminate information bulletins. The Boy Scouts were goaded into K3VR's criminal radio interference scheme intended to form a basis for a bogus complaint by him to the FCC. Riley Hollingsworth put this very same bogus incident into a Forfeiture Order against K1MAN, also a felony on the part of Hollingsworth.

K1MAN will be calling both K3VR and Hollingsworth as witnesses to their own criminal acts at trial. It should be interesting. Stay tuned.

Section 333:

No person shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radiocommunications or any station licensed or authorized by or under this act or operated by the United States government.

Section 501:

Any person who willfully and knowingly does or causes or suffers to be done any act, matter or thing, in this Act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or who willfully or knowingly omits or fails to do any act, matter or thing in this Act required to be done, or willfully or knowingly causes or suffers such omission or failure, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for such offense, for which no penalty (other than a forfeiture) is provided by this Act, by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or both.

Poster by K3VR:

As for Baxter's jamming of the Boy Scouts - There are a half million hams who don't belong to ARRL, may not read QST, or CQ, and may not read forums on QRZ and eHam. They may never have heard of Glenn Baxter. So why would the Scouts know (or care) about Baxter's broadcasts? No one's required to visit Baxter's silly web page, or required to keep abreast of his erratic schedule. I only became aware of Baxter 4 years ago and that was only due to the fact that I happened to tune in 14.275 one day. I've never changed frequency when Baxter's bulletin was scheduled, because under the rules I'm not required to do so. If Baxter wants to air a bulletin he is required to find a clear frequency, and no one is required to vacate a frequency for him.

That's one of Baxter's classically incorrect readings of the rules. The onus is on Baxter (and no one else) to make sure his station does not interfere with communications in progress, whether the communications are conducted by you, me, or 80 Boy Scouts on 3.890 mHz during their Jamboree on the Air. The NAL and Forfeiture Order verify that fact.

Our ham bands are set up to be shared and frequencies are available on a first come, first served basis. Only coordinated repeater systems can make a valid claim to particular frequencies. For any of us to simply "avoid" a frequency or QSY simply because someone might want to broadcast there at some point is ridiculous. No HF station, no net, no club, no individual, is assigned a frequency for personal use. Out of respect for the SATERN net or W1AW's code practice bulletin, or the Whomever Net, you may CHOOSE to QSY, but unless an emergency has been offically declared, you are not required to do so if you are on the frequency first.

Absolutely untrue. Never was in Orlando for any ham meeting, though I know the Auxilary meeting of which you write. You've got the wrong guy on that one. However, on motivation, you're getting close. Bored with ham radio at the time, I decided to take up my journalism. The issue of which you write brought me together with both sides as interviewer. My articles were published in Florida Skip and broadcasts carried on K1MAN. For me, it was a fun time being in the middle as a neutral journalist.

When KV4FZ was prosecuted by the feds, he called me, knowing I had an interest in law, and invited me down to help him out. I accepted as I would have for any ham in need, although acceptance did not constitute condoning the behavior. I was able to affect the reversal of two counts of coviction by the jury through the discovery of fabricated evidence.

That fueled more journalism, since I was right in the middle. I was able to keep confidence with Herb while, at the same time, criticizing him publicly for his conduct. If any readers are interested in that high drama, put into your NG search "When the Feds Fanned Out." You're gonna love it, because it was a lesson to this utterly naive ham at the time.

Now K1MAN has the spotlight for the final curtain, and because I once worked close in doing broadcasts there, I know much on the inside. So when I post, I have some authority, but the ham who reported that all important court decision has the scoop us all with remarkable news.

Is there some need you have to degrade? Are you uncomfortable with yourself? Chill my friend and enjoy life. We only have a short time. Let's create as much happiness as we can for those around us.

This response if for Pico, as I'm finished working for today and can do some surfing.

Before you visit http://TheFloridaBar.us and read at least Chapter 1 of "Guardians at the Gate, Sex in the Courthouse," realize your ill informed statements, in fact conjecture, is just pure wrong. The Florida Bar closed its investigation two years ago, not furnishing to this day problable cause or charge.

No one would deny that putting the entire story out on the Net, naming names, calling the Florida Bar corrupt, notifying them of the URL for the manuscript, is looking in the mirror, confronting that issue as closely as anyone can.

It is understandable that hams would be bored with that particular subject. After all, there are infinite interets out there, and the Bar story to most isn't a lot of fun. To me, though, learning of the cesspool of judicial corruption here in Florida is pure revelation. (If you want the goods on the cesspool, read Chapter 2, all about Republican black box voting fraud.)

I'm flattered to be the center of attention, but why not pick someone more worthy, since so many of our fellow hams have so much more on the ball?

I read part of it. Nothing personal, but it was quite boring. But then, I'm

Of course they could just hold the hearing and reject the renewal on "enforcement" grounds. No need to invoke the "Red Light Rule" if it has been really struck down by this decision. I would wager that once the FO is final (which is in a few days unless appealed) that would be justification enough to reject the application and make it stick.

That would land them in court for sure, but they are headed there anyway so why not? Baxter could save some money and argue the whole shootin match at once, in one trip to DC. All they would have to do is prove one of the "enforcement" issues in the FO and the license is history. Seems likely to me that they will get at least one of the issues to stick if they have two witnesses like they claim in the NAL and FO.

I'm still trying to confirm the order that N9OGL posted here independently, but if it's valid, it sure seems to put the "red light rule" on ice at just the right time to make this interesting. (Got to get a PACER account set up so I can look at the DC Circuit's issued orders and such).

KC4UAI,

Great legal thinking. You're right; they needn't rely on the red light rule to bounce Baxter. Thanks. They sure have much more than enough to bounce him. He's done everything to shoot himself in the foot.

No, Lardass Lloyd Davies is queer for Roger Wiseman.

He's a 32 year old virgin who still thinks Dr. Who and Star Wars are real, and he plays pretend he is a "time lord, " like the 6 year old he is deep down inside his 5'6" 300 pound morbidly obese body. His bald cranium looks like an Evinrude outboard motor cover in shape.

It was revealed this morning that Lloyd Davies, the Dumpster Denizen of goo gobbling fame has contracted the Mad Cow Disease.

Originally it was thought just to be "foaming at the mouth" from gobbling Nutsackks. But after extensive tests, it was found Lloyd has this fatal disease. It was once thought that the only way to contract this disease was by eating tainted meat.

Now it has been revealed that one can get it by screwing cows. Lloyd had visitors last week from Taylorville, IL and Chassell, MI. the infamous duo, the "Lavender Lads" were seen showing Lloyd how to place a stool behind a cow.

More as it occurs.

CHASON, JULIE A

MAMMAS DON"T LET YOUR BABIES GROW UP TO BE CHASONS
Jennings/Nelson/AB8MQ

Chasons ain't easy to love and they're harder to hold They'd rather give you a blowjob than diamonds and gold Lone Star belt buckles and old faded Levis
And each night begins a new day
And you don't understand him and he don't die young He'll probably just waddle away.
Chorus
Mamas, don't let your babies grow up to be Chasons
Don't let them typo lame and cascade like a lame fuck Make them be doctors and lawyers and such.
Mammas don't let your babies grow up to be Chasons
They'll never leave home and they're always alone
Even with someone they love.
Chasons like slurping asses and queer mounting mornings
Little warm puppies and children and girls of the night
Them that don't know him won't like him and them that do
Sometimes won't know how to take him
He ain't wrong he's just different but his pride won't Let him do things to make you think he's right.

What's your excuse for mangling the sentence, stupid?

You should've typed "It was indeed a typo, my call is kb8rqz..." Why did you write such an incomplete sentence, stupid? Dyslexia doesn't make you leave out complete words, so your lie about having it is quite obvious. Maybe you just had a stroke sometime in the past and what little brains you have are really screwed up.

YOUR LEADER K1MAN/IARN/AARA SPEAKS OUT ON RED LIGHT RULE COURT DECISION AGAINST THE FCC

FCC IS ORDERED BY THE COURT OF APPEALS TO CHANGE ITS PROCEDURES

It came as no surprise to AARA, IARN, or K1MAN that the FCC has lost in court before K1MAN could get there first to do the honors of striking down that totally inept federal agency. Oh well! Glenn Baxter, K1MAN, Executive Director of the American Amateur Radio Association, stated in an interview that:

"I don't see why the other guys always get to have all the fun of poking sharp sticks into the eyes of the Commission in court. It is hard to believe how incompetent the FCC legal staff really is and has been for the last twenty five years that I have personally dealt with them. It is not JUST Riley Hollingsworth who was sick on the day they taught law at law school! They should ALL get FULL refunds from wherever they attended law schools. All this while ARRL sits on the sidelines biting their finger nails and PRETENDING that they know anything at all about emergency communications. Only in America!"

United States Court of AppealsFOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CIRCUIT

Argued October 31, 2005 Decided March 27, 2006No. 05-1224Manifest

Broadcast Company, Appellantv.Federal Communications Commission,

Appellee

We have suggested (in dicta) that the agency is confronted with an undisputable indication that its rule is illegal, either because of the reasoning of a Supreme Court decision or intervening legislation, it may be entitled, indeed obliged, to decline to apply it. American Tel. & Tel. Co. v. FCC (AT&T), 978 F.2d 727, 733 (D.C. Cir. 2004).(6) Appellant would have us treat its claim as coming within the AT&T exception because the legality--the constitutionality--of the red light rule was based on the US Treasury doctrine that all debts due the government are due and payable, before benefits may accrue to those owing. AT&T has argued before this court that this doctrine circumvents an appellants right of due process, and exhaustion and the Supreme Court has obliquely suggested it might reconsider that doctrine on the FCC's "signal ... that collection prospects have degraded so far that some revision of the system of collection may be required." FCC v. League of Broadcast Affiliates, 432 U.S. 366, 377 n.11 (2004). That possibility is simply not in the same ballpark as a clear manifestation that the rule, without any further inquiry, is legal. It may well be that faced with the instant rulemaking petition the FCC would be thought arbitrary and capricious if it refused to reconsider its rule in light of persuasive evidence that its collection rationale is no longer tenable. See American Speech Protection Ass'n v. Fielding, 811 F.2d 1 (D.C. Cir. 2004); WHT, Inc. v. FCC, 654 F.2d 803 (D.C. Cir. 2004); Heller v. FCC, 608 F.2d 954 (D.C. Cir. 2004) (per curiam).(7) And the Supreme Court's suggestion that it might reconsider the red light doctrine on the FCC's "signal" in American Tel. & Tel. Co. imposes an implicit obligation on the Commission. Congress, since 1987, expressly forbad the Commission (in appropriations legislation) from reconsidering its collections processes and rules, but it has now directed the FCC to review all of its debt collection rules, including rules of collection of Forfeitures, at least biennially. See Telecommunications Act of 1996, Pub. L. No 104-104, 202(h), 110 Stat. 56, 111-12 (1996). Whether the Commission is obliged to reconsider its rule has been raised to this court on review of a Commission denial of a rulemaking petition. Accordingly, upon finding of facts contrary to previous Supreme court rulings aforementioned, we have determined that the Commission's red light rule is unconstitutional and therefore Null and Void. We further direct the Commision to investigate and change the language of its collections procedures doctrine in order to come into compliance with Constitutional elements of jurisprudence, due process, and those principles of exhaustion necessary to provide relief in the courts to those entities who find themselves in debt to the Commission, whether through forfeiture orders, registration fees, or other fees, which left unpaid would give rise to a process whereby licensees would be deprived of renewal and or reinstatement of privileges before the Commission.

So ordered.

You can't out-flame anymore. You've all sunk to the the bottom of the Cesspool and can't get lower.

Do any of you have the courage and/or the strength to try and rise to the top and climb out, or do you want to continue rolling and wallowing around a cesspool spewing potty mouth flames at each other?

You all give amateur radio a bad image.

Do me a favor. Don't use your callsigns here anymore. Deal? That way when someone stops by and doesn't know what ham radio is all about, they'll just leave thinking a bunch of CB'ers or other such low life hi-jacked the newsgroup and took over, which is basically true anyway as you don't have to earn a ham license these days. Just have the correct amount of money to give the VE's whatever the test fee is that year.

Tnx,

6581. ARRL membership stable? Anyone Know?

Is it stable, or is it declining?

That can be a clue as to how much they'd be willing to go in their proposals to the FCC to dumb things down more.

It worked before.

Get a license, then get a test fee discount on a new membership.

Greed makes organizations do bad things.

I liked the old ARRL when it cared about us.

Try to get your fucked up brain to work, Markie. Smack yourself on the side of your thick skull with a shovel. You claim Wiseman has no money (which isn't true) and then you claim he bribed a VE. He didn't HAVE to bribe one, dumbass. You can't even pass the test the first time, and yet he successfully passed them, TWICE. Retesting is supposed to be some kind of sanction, I suppose, but in that case (but not the only

From: http://www.figging.com/ :

<begin quote>

Figging is a form of BDSM pain play in which a piece of raw, peeled ginger is inserted into a person's ass. It creates an intense burning sensation.

And I am willing to try most things at least once.

So, being the sexual scientist I am, I had to experiment. It should be noted that figging used to be on my list of hard limits, but it is no longer. (I couldn't understand why anyone would want to experience such a thing but insatiable curiosity got the best of me.)

I trip-trapped down to the market, and bought two nice-sized pieces of ginger for $.24. (Hey, it's economical!) I spent some time peeling a piece into just the right shape and size, and threaded a string through the ginger so it wouldn't get lost in there and cause me eternal torment.

I got my play area set up, with toys and pillows all around, and took a deep breath because I was truly afraid. I didn't know what to expect except for intense ass burning, and who the hell wants that?

I approached the insertion somewhat hesitantly-- I touched the ginger to the outside of my ass and it was a bit warm and sting-y but not so bad. I waited a few moments and slid it partway in. Holy fuck, it burned. I wanted to stop right then, but instead I pushed it all the way in. I closed my eyes, felt tears squeeze out, leaned back and settled in for the ride.

It's somewhat difficult to accurately describe the series of escalating sensations I experienced. I entered a highly endorphined state after the first couple of minutes, and that state evolved consistently throughout the experiment.

My entire body from the waist down felt like it was simultaneously on fire and vibrating. I could feel my heart beating in my ass and pussy. My pussy lubricated copiously and constantly in response to the sensation, and my clit became highly sensitive. I played with my clit a little, but couldn't make myself come because the other sensation was too intense. There were more than a few times when it was so intense I thought I couldn't take it anymore, but I pushed through it with deep breathing and was rewarded with another endorphin rush.

And then, suddenly, I decided I was done. I pulled the ginger out, and almost immediately, the burning ceased. I was relieved, and super happy to know that there was no persistent pain. Then I made myself come, and considered it a full day's research.

You're the noted racist here Scheissman since your both a queer and a

He's still light years ahead of your sorry ass. But what is to be expected of that crackhouse education you received in Tampa. By the way, didn't your ex say that you were a nasty bastard that doesn't use soap. Probably because you drop it on a regular basis.

Lloyd,

The Red Light Rule being history does not effect the FO, it only could possibly effect how his license is not renewed. If it's not appealed, the FO will become final and Baxter will owe $21K to the FCC. Once the debt collection practices of the FCC get fixed, Baxter will be one of the first to get the new rules used on him.

All they have to do is deny his renewal application on "enforcement grounds" and it's over. This just takes away an "easy" out for the FCC with Baxter's renewal. They will get dragged into court over this, but it won't amount to much. Even a first year law student could see the legal problems that Baxter will face in such a hearing will be hard to over come.

All they have to do is point to the NAL and FO and say, "The commission does not believe this applicant has shown the proper respect to the commissions rules so his application for renewal should be denied." Prove one of the more serious rule violations and voila it's over and K1MAN becomes a highly prized vanity call sign available in about 2 years..

Of course Baxter will come in and "help" his case by all the misplaced legal theory and personal dislike he has for the FCC's legal team. Could be fun to watch him get his clock cleaned in court.

FCC IS ORDERED BY THE COURT OF APPEALS TO CHANGE ITS PROCEDURES

Why yes, it apparently has. However, this does not effect the current status of K1MAN's case. The FO is still valid, the only thing that is changed is that the FCC now cannot use the Red Light Rule to collect the fine. Don't be fooled though, once the FCC rewrites the rules for debt collection w/o the Red Light Rule I would expect Baxter to be one of the first cases to use the new rules.

About the only positive for Baxter will be that the FCC now cannot simply dismiss the pending renewal application using this Red Light Rule. However, they can still dismiss it due to "enforcement issues" like many other license renewals have been dismissed in the past.

Do remember that there are two processes running concurrently. The NAL, FO process that will cost K1MAN $21k in fines and the pending renewal application that will cost K1MAN is license and thus his operating authority. Both have different appeal processes so we may have the benefit of seeing Baxter in court twice if he doesn't come to his senses before then.

I suspect that this will only delay both processes slightly... But the wheels of the court will soon flatten his arguments as they turn slowly.

How long will this take? For the renewal application, shortly. For the debt collection, a bit longer.

This is what actually happened.....

And it came to pass that once again those who knew about the homosexual tendencies of the king of knob jobs in alabama aka: Lloyd Davies, once again rose their all knowing minds and posted truths about the king oof knob jobs in alabama. Then, when they posted the true messages, the exposed homosexual who is also known as the king of knob jobs in alabama went berserk as he has usually done when the truth is told. But, no matter how the king of knob jobs in alabama tries, he will never be even a tenth of the man who whips his fat ass regularly!

Then, the slobbovians saw this post, and the dicklick cocksuckers saw the post, and some of them were stirred to something that approached pity for the king of knob jobs in alabama. But it was pity mixed with righteous anger and the need for the king of knob jobs in alabama to come clean and profess to one and all his fondness for dicks and cornholing men. And, once again the king of knob jobs in alabama was exposed for the faggot he actually is!

The slobbovians and dicklicks debated about the price the king of knob jobs in alabama would have to pay, and the dicklicks demanded that the king be exterminated. The slobbovians saw this as a possible learning experience for the king of knob jobs in alabama, but knew that he could not be cured of his dick sucking fetish! The slobbovians counselled the dicklicks as they knew that the king should be killed or forced to recant his slurs and admit that he is in fact a deviant who sadly had his emotional wires crossed but could possibly be saved with years of expensive therapy at the citizens own expense. And they proposed to give the king of knob jobs in alabama a choice-therapy or extermination.

Then the king would be forced to confront his own homoerotic feelings of love for men and especially Roger Wiseman that went far beyond the respect and recognition of the king's limited knowledge of anything that mattered. That most of the people possessed knowledge of the king of knob jobs in alabama and his filthy desires into the realm of homosexual love and desire for possession that turned sour when the king of knob jobs in alabama faced the fact that he could not convince the populace that he was a normal human being, not a genetic mutant.

Then, when the king of knob jobs in alabama was happy with this decision, although it is a fact that the king could not rule the land of alabama, as the people knew about his homosexual fetishes. But the mood of the king of knob jobs in alabama was good, for he had a chance to suck off all his underlings and it was good.

At the end of the day the dicklicks stood down, but remained ever vigilant and ready to suck when the king wanted a knob job.

Les Locklear never does learn that his posts are transparent to most of us. I guess that his obsession with Lloyd blinds him to the stupidity of his own posts.

From http://www.cableone.net/internet/cmaup.asp:

"Prohibited activities include, but are not limited to:

"* Any fraudulent activities, including impersonating any person or

You really DO want to lose that account, don't you Les?

I am not sure they CAN choose that route at this point having already cited the now discredited red light rule given the failure to cite there are still things like double jepardy etc, it might be possible for the FCC to do so now but I don't think so I think they have to grant the renewal now then fight the NAL and decide to try and cancell K1MAN, But truley I recomend a lawyer to Baxter esp RIGHT NOW a screww up here could be very costly

It was twenty years ago today,
Roger Wiseman forced the boys to be gay
He's been going in and outa their rears
And he's made them into ravin' queers.
So watch out or I'll force on you
The act we've hated all these years,
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band.

We're Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band,
Disciples of the Bucktoothed Choad,
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band,
Sit back and watch us shoot a load.
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound, Roger Wiseman's Greyhound,
Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band.
It's wonderful to be here,
But Wiseman's full of crap,
The dirty goddamn pederast:
That fucker gave us syphilis,
That fucker gave us clap.

I don't really want to stop the show,
But I thought you had all better know,
That Wiseman's going to play a song,
On a stickpin that he stuck through his schlong.
So let me introduce to you
And Roger Wiseman's Greyhound Men's Room Band.

I see nothing in the ruling or the NAL/FO that will invalidate the fine. The court ordered that the FCC review and fix their debt collection practices, specifically the invocation of the Red Light Rule was found to be unconstitutional. There is no mention of the Forfeiture process being a problem. This only deals with the recently adopted (in 2004) debt collection rules as evidenced by the fact that the FO that got this into court has not been struck down.

However, if it had been, and the FCC choose to discontinue the FO proceedings in K1MAN's case, then the rejection of his renewal application gets easier not harder.

K1MAN has a valid argument that enforcement actions that are not "final" cannot be used as justification for dismissal of his renewal application. However, what constitutes a final unappealable FO is as follows:
1. A FO that has not been appealed in the 30 days allowed,
2. A FO that has been appealed, and the appeal has been rejected by the court,
3. A FO that has been paid (and thus not argued or appealed)

#1 is fast approaching (Less than 3 days) unless K1MAN files the appeal. K1MAN and his supporters would have you believe that the FO cannot be used as evidence to deny his license renewal unless he pays it or it's collection has been argued in court. I believe that they are mistaken. Once the FO becomes final, it IS valid evidence that can be used in a renewal application decision, regardless of if he has paid all or part of the fine or not.

Now, to comment on some theories hinted at by "an old friend" and others... There is no double jeopardy here. K1MAN's proper forum to argue the FO is the NAL response and appeal process. This is the same as "traffic court" for a speeding ticket. If you are found guilty in traffic court you will be assessed a fine (and court costs in some cases). You can appeal the court decision and attempt to have it argued again but if you fail the fine stands. You can, of course, just plead guilty and pay the fine up front (not appealing but simply paying the FO.) Prior to the order of the court or you pleading guilty, there will be no points assessed on your driving record; This is the same as the FCC not being able to use pending enforcement issues to deny your license renewal. However once the fine becomes final, by court decision, by admission of guilt by payment of the fine, points will be on your record. So once the FO is final, K1MAN's licence is history.

If you fail to pay said fine (after it becomes final), debt collection procedures will be started, which is a different process. This is not double jeopardy because the debt collection case won't be about the original violations that lead to the fine, but about the collection of the debt. If you get arrested for not paying your traffic tickets, the issue will be that you didn't pay, not that the tickets are somehow invalid. Of course you are free to try and argue that the fine is too large, unjustified, without basis etc at the debt collection trial and attempt to get it dismissed, but the burden of proof will have switched to you. You are going to have to prove that the fine is invalid because the assumption will be that it IS valid. (If you had argued it in traffic court, the burden of proof is on the other side because the fine is assumed invalid there until proof is supplied.)

What has been stuck down is the automatic rejection of all license applications by those who owe the FCC money for what ever reason they owe it, not the ability of the FCC to fine folks who break the rules.

The red light rules were thrown out due to fact that they violated due process. K1MAN fine and FO will be thrown out because 1. most of the fine was based on the fining system in the broadcast service (see the NAL) and therefore may of been to high of a fine in regards to the amateur service. 2. Baxter's right to an Administrative hearing under the Administrative Procedure Act was denied and therefore his rights to due process under the APA was violated. 3. the "trial de novo" that the FCC is referring to is a trial in the district court. The FCC can take Baxter to the District court to collect the fine, in the district court Baxter can raise any challenges to any FCC rule or regulation, nor can baxter raise any constitutional challenges, the trial de novo is a debt collection trial.

I guess that means we can expect them to propose making 50% the passing score for written exams, and there goes the code requirement.

Any chance of you outstanding radio amateurs can quit flaming each other for a while?

We got important things to talk about here, like saving ham radio. A tornado or earthquake wiping out Newington, CT. would be a good start to get the ball rolling.

I think it is time to unleash the Wouff Hong again on the children in this NG that (a) couldn't spell c-a-t if you spotted them the c and the a and (b) have some pretty strange sexual proclivities.

How do you start a tornado or an earthquake?

Ahh, Hollywood Henderson referring to Terry Bradshaw (although I thought he said, "the c and the t"). One of my all time favorite

(Waters, Gilmour, ?)

(knocking on Davies' skull)
Hello, Lardass, is there anybody in there?
Just nod if you can hear me.
Is there anyone home?
Come on, now, I'm glad you're feeling down.
Well I can ease your pain
And get you on your flabby feet again.
Relax, I'll need some cyanide first.
In the head you sure are whacked.
Can you snivel when it hurts?

There is no hair yours is receding
A dullard shit who smokes pot as well then.
Your stupidity only comes through in waves.
Your lips move but I can't hear what you're saying.
When you were a child You had a fever
Your hands felt your man tits just like two balloons.
Now You've got that faggotry once again
You can't explain, you just do not understand
The eternal training wheel ham.
Lloyd has become comfortably dumb.

Ok, You're just a little prick.
There'll be no more of your whaaaaaaaaah!
When you get that fat ass kicked.
Can you shut the fuck up?
I do believe it's working, good.
That'll keep you stuttering through your shitty show
Come on, fatty, it's time to go.

There is no decent pay you are receiving Nobody leaves a tip, pizza delivery career on the horizon.
Your stupidity only comes through in waves.
Your lips move but I can't hear what you're saying.
When you was a child you caught a fleeting glimpse
Of your whore mommy's fur pie.
You turned to look but it was gone
You cannot put Your finger in it now
The child never grown, the dream of being smart is gone.

Lloyd Davies has become comfortably dumb.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHA You keep telling yourself that, pizza BOY.
The only job you are qualified for is restaurant work, what a loser.
But then, since your older brother is a convicted felon and your dad an ex-truck driver, you don't have very high expectations of yourself.

Another lie, if you weren't Roger then how and why would you claim that when Heil and his wife came to pay you a visit, you weren't there. Of course, you seemed to know that someone else was there or at least claim so. Not only that but how would you have known Heil had shown up unless someone else was there or you were hiding behind the curtains again. What a puss and a liar. Explain that to us Scheissman. Not to mention that MSN account that you have. Explain to us how you know so much about Wiseman's life yet aren't him. Including things that were brought up in Usenet years ago. By the way, what is Wisemans degree allegedly in. Can you tell us that one.

You are correct that the "trial" being discussed in the FO is the debt collection trial. However, Baxter can bring up any issues he desires in an effort to argue that he doesn't owe the fine. He will, however, be at a marked disadvantage because the burden of proof will be on him at that point. Also, what the FCC denied him was a hearing before the FCC commissioners which was unlikely to happen and was a misplaced request in this case. He needs to appeal the FO to the proper courts to get this heard.

Right now Baxter is ignoring his due process rights to appeal the FO and have it heard in court. He must appeal the FO within 30 days or it becomes final. If he doesn't fight this in an appeal it will become final and he will end up with the burden of proof. At the appeal the burden of proof is on the FCC if he waits for the debt collection trial he has willfully given up his rights.

Baxter has made a series of serious missteps here and is slowly giving up his rights to due process. His supporters insist that he's being unfairly treated when he's not. Our legal system has it's process and sometimes they don't make a lot of sense to the general public who get most of their "legal" training from the TV shows they watch. You got to follow the rules carefully.

Just because you don't understand the rules does not mean the game is unfair. I would strongly suggest that Baxter obtain the services of a lawyer who does understand the rules. If Baxter thinks he's going to pull a Matlock move in court and get himself off, he's as nuts as some folks claim. A lawyer would advise him on the best way to preserve his rights.

I just wonder how you think Riley Hollingsworth will need to show up in court for this case?

I suppose he may, but why would he need bother with the K1MAN case in the first place?

As for "fact" and "Evidence" usable in court, I would beg to differ with your opinion here. By all appearances and documentation that I've seen, K1MAN is in deep trouble. Unless he has a lot of evidence to offset the claims of the FO the trial will be a slam dunk for the FCC. If Baxter has such evidence, he should have responded to the NAL with this evidence and not tried to hide it or hold it for a trial. It is a serious legal blunder to withhold evidence, unless you are claiming your 5th amendment rights.

If Baxter is claiming 5th amendment rights, yet decides to caught up the withheld information in a court as part of his defence, he's going to regret using this tactic.

This guy needs a good lawyer or the FCC's most junior staff lawyer who just passed the bar is going to run circles around him in court.

Oh, and the ARRL has nothing to do with Baxter's troubles... But you knew that.

Hi all,

I'd like to see what this new dummy load I just bought on e-bay looks like under test at its rated frequency of one Gig.
Problem is, all the documentation I have for my VNA shows devices to be tested having two connectors (an in and an out if you will) like filters for example. I can only connect to the one connection that dummy loads typically have, since it'a a termination device rather than a through one. Does that mean I can't analyse its characteristics? Or is there a work around/special cable configuration that would solve this problem?
Thanks,

Where I agree with your thought I would tell you that from years of experience (dating back to fidonet before the internet)....

It's best to just ignore flames and those who routinely post them. It usually means that the poster has nothing worth saying, or simply enjoys the "fight" he starts. Either way, the best way to not encourage them is to not respond.

Many folks think that because the person they insult is not sitting next to them it's OK to be rude. After all, they can get away with it on news groups like this. It's almost like they somehow get a thrill out of posting insults that most of them wouldn't dare say in public.

Sorta sad if you ask me.

Hmmm.. Seems that the $21K was reasonable considering the number and nature of the rules violations. If you assume the violations are true, what do you think the dollar amount should be?

> 2. Baxter's right to an Administrative hearing under > the Administrative Procedure Act was denied and therefore his rights to

No, he requested a hearing before the FCC commissioners which was improper at that point. Right now the proper place for due process here is the Appeal process, which is supposed to be filed with the appropriate court within 30 days of the Forfeiture Order. (Which has not happened, to my knowledge.) It is not the FCC's fault if Baxter doesn't know how to do the right thing to protect is rights.

You are indeed correct, except he can try to raise issues with the fine and these issues would be admissible had he chosen to supply the necessary information requested by the NAL, or if he managed to get the appeal timely filed. The problem with your contention that this is not fair is that you are ignoring the fact that Baxter has failed to protect his own rights.

The rules are fair and published so everybody can know what they need to do. It's not the fault of the FCC if Baxter fails to protect his own rights even if he is ignorant of what the rules mean. If he doesn't want to hire a lawyer to advise him, fine, but if he then complains that the process doesn't match what he thinks is fair, too bad.

I'll bet that if he contacts the FCC right now and agrees to hand in his license, swear off ham radio for life and agree to not use his Part 97 equipment for anything but receiving, they might be willing to forget the fines...

It depends on the plastic material - it's worth doing the microwave oven test before using it. I find that PVC that's OK in the microwave oven usually stands up to UV well.

Lisping cocksucker Davies, you sure talk tough behind the computer. But you ran your fat mouth online and then was a no-show, twice.
You're the "momma's" boy, you beg her to have sex with you.

>is too scared to show at Dayton.

Just like you were too chickenshit to show at Dalton hamfest when Oris told you he would be there.

>I bet he hasnt been to a hamfest for years.

Actually, he's never been to a hamfest, why would he want to go see a bunch of smelly losers like the ones at Dayton? Besides, he buys his equipment from the store, he isn't like you and have to pick up cheapassed used equipment. HAHAHAHAHAHA!

which means since the final did not exist when they set aside his license he outgh to get a his renewal

they may be able to come back later and revoke that license that is another matter

I enevr said it did you keep insisting that what happens to K1man is one block of matters

it isn't I would would the court has all butrdered a vitory fro now in the renewal issue the FO is another matter

Writing in the third person again Roger? It's doubtful he can buy much of anything being the total loser he is. But then again, when your government sugar daddy is there to help, Woger is there with his hand out. Roger is such a coward that he has hid behind the curtains twice when visited not to mention ran away every time someone confronted him. Makes one wonder if he isnt scared of the light. The vast majority of my equipment is brand new and not to mention I suspect, I have a lot more of it than you.

I knew one day you'd push the gay agenda. The ARRL gave you a forum, you should send'em a thank-you note and renew your membership.

I know you're right but it wasn't always like that in the rec.radio groups. Wars & fights on the bands spilled over to usenet. Now these two groups see the brunt of it. It's really about the same as what you might hear on 27.185 mhz. Eleven meter childishness.

I blame lower testing standards which has allowed more childish people to get licensed. They don't seem to have any integrity to me, do they to you? Sorry, silly question.

The net effect of the "set aside" is that his renewal has not been decided. As K1MAN and others have pointed out he retains his right to operate on his old license until it is decided.

So... I don't think that the "set aside" is the same as a rejection. They are currently just thinking about what they intend to do. (Well, really they are thinking about how they intend to do it.) Actually, I think they are waiting for the FO to become final so they can use it to justify pulling his ticket.

Once the FO becomes final, then they can use that as justification for the denial of the renewal. Assuming Baxter hasn't filed the appeal then I expect this to happen within the next few days.

if baxter has even sent a letter sayin i intend to apeal that is likely

You have it correct sir. The monkey from Glendale called himself "Crow" and was booted from ovis.net. Which stands for Ohio Valley Internet Services of Moundsville, WV. Which is a few miles from Glendale in Marshall county. Mental problems are a very important part of his life, after all would you expect him to act normal, it is West Virginny you know.

Unless Baxter has an appeal in the mail right now, the FO is final. He had 30 days to appeal, now it's a debt collection case. I suppose they may give him a few extra days to avail himself of his rights, but I don't think it will be a long wait.

So I suspect that the license will be yanked shortly and then the fun will begin.. :)

For the previous (SHORT) update, see:

http://groups.google.com/group/rec.radio.amateur.misc/msg/ade88e8296987eb9

In September of 1996, I started mailing an introductory message to all new posters to rec.radio.amateur.misc. This is accomplished via a special Perl script originally written by comp.infosystems.www.* FAQ maintainer Tom Boutell, who uses it on comp.infosystems.www.authoring.html, to send each poster such a message once, and only once, to a given E-mail address. It runs from a Unix cron job on my host every morning at 2 AM and queries my local news server via NNTP for the headers of any new articles posted to this newsgroup.

The project was expanded on June 19, 2002 to cover all rec.radio.amateur.* newsgroups, but with the same previous-poster database (as I stated my intention to do in previous updates). This means that if you have already received the message to a given E-mail address, you won't receive it again to that same E-mail address. The average number of recipients per day is currently about 14. Feedback statistics remain about the same for the additional 2,500 recipients (see previous updates via the link above for more details). Here are the milestones in terms of number of recipients, and the date each milestone was attained:

>Subject: WELCOME to rec.radio.amateur.*

Hello,

The following message is automatically sent to every new poster or cross-poster (as of June 19, 2002) to any of the rec.radio.amateur.* newsgroups. It should be sent once, and only once, to each unique address. This is a welcome message. The Internet amateur radio community welcomes you to the newsgroups, including rec.radio.amateur.*, and welcomes your input, opinions, and constructive participation. To help make you feel welcome, experienced participants like myself have chosen to systematically inform you, as a new poster, about useful information resources and user tips to enable you to get the most out of these newsgroups. I hope you will consider the message in that spirit.

1. The news.announce.newusers newsgroup, moderated by Jon Bell, et al, contains a number of very informative articles providing an overview of net-etiquette, suggested writing styles for electronic forums, and other various do's and don'ts concerning Internet culture. If the articles have expired at your site, you may also access them from:

ftp://rtfm.mit.edu/pub/usenet/news.answers/news/

2. Original newsgroup voting and charter information for the rec.radio.amateur.* hierarchy, as well as for rec.radio.info and rec.radio.swap, may be accessed from:

ftp://ftp.uu.net/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/rec/rec.radio.info ftp://ftp.uu.net/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/rec/rec.radio.amateur-reorg ftp://ftp.uu.net/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/rec/rec.radio.amateur.dx ftp://ftp.uu.net/usenet/news.announce.newgroups/rec/rec.radio.amateur.boatanchors

3. The Guide to the rec.radio Newsgroups, originally written by Jay Maynard, K5ZC, is now maintained by Jeffrey Herman, KH6O. It provides an excellent overview of all of the Usenet newsgroups devoted to amateur and CB radio. It may be accessed from:

ftp://rtfm.mit.edu/pub/usenet/news.answers/radio/personal-intro

4. The rec.radio.swap FAQ: A Guide to Buying and Selling on Usenet, also originally written by Jay Maynard, K5ZC, is now also maintained by Jeffrey Herman, KH6O. It contains a number of good pointers for reading and posting articles concerning the buying and selling of radio and radio-related equipment on the Usenet newsgroup rec.radio.swap (which, with the sole exception of rec.radio.amateur.boatanchors for vintage equipment, is the only appropriate newsgroup in the rec.radio.* hierarchy for such articles). It may be accessed from:

ftp://rtfm.mit.edu/pub/usenet/news.answers/radio/swap-guide

Please direct any submissions feedback, or administrivia regarding the above two resources to jeffreyh@hawaii.edu.

5. The national amateur radio society of the United States, the American Radio Relay League, has a presence on the Internet. You may access their comprehensive and informative home page at:

http://www.arrl.org/

(They also have information about amateur radio organizations in other countries.)

6. Read the newsgroup first to see if your question has already been answered. You may also view, and search for keywords in, older news articles (going all the way back to 1981) at the Google (formerly DejaNews) archive:

http://groups.google.com/

Many topics have been discussed before, often in great depth, but the articles have expired at your local news server. Services like Google allow Usenet a much longer "institutional memory," greatly benefiting both new and experienced users.

7. If you do post to the newsgroup, give as many details as possible. After you post, read the newsgroup for a week or two to see all replies to your posting. A recommended practice is to ask for responses by E-mail and offer to post a summary if others are interested in the answer to your question. Note that it is (almost without exception) inappropriate to post your article to all (or even a significant subset of) rec.radio.amateur.* newsgroups. Please pick only the most relevant newsgroups (2 or 3 at most), and post your article as a simultaneous cross-post (check your newsreader documentation) so that only one article is propagated, and the article is only shown once in a newsreader.

8. Remember, Usenet newsgroups are based on the idea of mutual aid. Usenet only works if we put as much into it as we get out of it.

73, Paul W. Schleck, K3FU

The author welcomes any and all constructive feedback. Please direct all such feedback to pschleck@novia.net and retain the original subject (e.g., "Re: WELCOME to rec.radio.amateur.*") in your reply.

Wussman likes the attention, bad as it may be. It makes him feel popular. If it were not for bloggers such as http://whywogersucks.blogspot.com/ he would get no attention at all. His life is one of boredom and the poor guy needs attention be it good or bad. He is kind of like you and your retarded fixation with Steve. You, like Wiseman with Lloyd, "see" Steve everywhere whether Steve posts or not. You really should get over your imbalance. Steve is honest in that he posts over his REAL callsign and has nothing to hide.
You could learn something from Steve if you would leave your fantasy land and your mind was not such a closed book.
And while we are discussing this? Why do you not get and use a spell checker? Your posts only fortify Wiseman's comments that you sound extremely stupid. He seems to have a valid point on this one.

CTI has killed Toad's dsl account for violating its acceptable use policy. Now Toad will have to return to using dialup, or else get a cable broadband connection. Toad is quickly running out of broadband providers.

Next, our jihad will target Mark Morgan, the satan of Michigan. His satellite service should be cut off soon.

Cross-posted... (3)

Having a play with Tom Sailors soundmodem code and wonder if anyone has come accoss any documentation explaining the use of file input and path etc simulations? I could no doubt work it out by playing but it would be nice to see what others have done! I want to prove it works under my system by creating and loading a couple of raw/wav sound files etc.

The alternative would be someone who has experimented with it and can give me some pointers. I'd like to know for example whether one should use different confguration files when swicthing between "live" and test modes.

Any assistance appreciated

Cheers Bob VK2YQA

People on his blog at http://n9oglvoice.blogspot.com are confirming what you just posted. Tood's home machine hasn't been connected to the net since last Friday. That's something he's never done before, because all his fellow Lolicon users wouldn't be able to access his bbs. Just think of all the people who are currently being deprived of cartoon kiddie porn. Don't it make you cry?
